DULLES' 'BRINK OF WAR' POLICY TO BRING DEBATE

Governors Slated For Major Roles

National Conventions To See State Chiefs Exercise Influence

WASHINGTON (AP)—At least 250 of the nation's 48 governors appeared today to be headed toward major roles in the choice of this year's Republican and Democratic presidential nominees. Still others will step into the picture before the 1956 nominating conventions.

Almost every one of the 21 Republican governors now is counted as a supporter of President Eisenhower if he decides to seek a second term, and four have started actively organizing delegate slates to support him.

Some seem likely to go down the line for any substitute candidate the President suggests if he himself doesn't run.

In the Democratic camp, former Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois already has enlisted the public support of five governors in his race for that party's nomination. They include Govs. George M. Leader of Pennsylvania, Abraham A. Ribicoff of Connecticut, Orville L. Freeman of Minnesota, Luther H. Hodges of North Carolina and John F. Simms Jr. of New Mexico.

The Stevenson strategists also hope to swing Gov. Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey, Gov. Orval Faubus of Arkansas and others into their lineup before the Chicago convention next August.

* * *

GOV. AVERELL Harriman of New York describes himself as an "inactive" candidate for the nomination. He has had some nice words from Gov. Raymond Gary of Oklahoma, but otherwise has displayed little strength among his gubernatorial colleagues.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche of Ohio is a favorite son candidate with the object of controlling his state's potent delegation and looking over the field at the convention. Lausche has had a pat on the back from Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas, who doesn't like Stevenson. Lausche has said he likes Stevenson.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan also is expected to wind up in the favorite son class with some hopes of first or second place on this year's national ticket.

Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, a candidate for the presidential nomination, hasn't picked up support among the governors.

There have been reports, however, that his candidacy has some appeal to Gov. James E. Folsom of Alabama who says publicly he is for former President Truman, who in turn says he isn't going to run, but likes Stevenson.

Kefauver may have some trouble in Tennessee with Gov. Frank G. Clement, who has some national aspirations of his own. To get any working agreement with Clement, Kefauver may have to demonstrate he has a better chance than he now is accorded for the nomination.

In Kentucky, Gov. [illegible] B. Happy Chandler is keeping his own counsel. But he expects to have some say about the party's nomine.

JOHN S. BUGAS, who resigned as $6,500 chief agent of FBI office in Detroit in May, 1944, to go with the Ford Motor company, now is earning $183,785, it was disclosed in a Ford report to the Securities and Exchange commission. He now is Ford vice president for industrial relations.

Ike Petition Eyed In New Hampshire

Lone Delegate Candidate's Move Upsets Plan By Eisenhower-Backers

CONCORD, N. H. (AP)—The deputy secretary of state was expected to decide today whether there are enough valid signatures on surprise petitions to enter President Eisenhower's name in New Hampshire's March 13 presidential preference primary.

Harry E. Jackson said he will make his ruling after completing a check of papers filed unexpectedly last night by Maurice J. Grant, a Manchester automobile dealer.

Grant's action jolted the state's organized Eisenhower forces who plan to file similar papers of their own Monday.

Jackson said Grant's petitions carried the signatures of 70 persons from the state's second congressional district and 54 from the first.

But, he added, "there appeared to be five cases in the first district papers in which a husband had signed his own name and that of his wife, or vice versa."

Jackson said he discovered "three definite duplications" in a checkup last night, but was unable to complete his investigation by telephone.

* * *

GRANT, WHO expressed surprise that the validity of the signatures was challenged and offered to file "thousands more if necessary," issued this statement:

"As one of many New Hampshire Republicans, I am interested in learning if our President, Dwight Eisenhower, is to seek renomination.

"If his name is on the New Hampshire ballot, all of us who have signed these petitions will work our hardest to see New Hampshire give President Eisenhower a tremendous vote of confidence March 13."

The Granite State first-in-the-nation primary ballot also will include a preference poll in which voters may express a choice from among possible presidential candidates. The preference poll is not binding on the delegates and by law is "advisory" in nature.

Gov. Lane Dwinell, leader of the organized Eisenhower forces, said he plans to carry out his previously announced intention of filing Eisenhower's name Monday.

Grant's maneuver apparently caught other Eisenhower boosters off guard. An extremely reliable source told The Associated Press that once Dwinell's petitions were formally filed, the President was prepared to specifically approve the use of his name, thus offering an indication that he might seek another term.

When the required 100 signatures are submitted, state law provides for the secretary of state to notify the President and inform him that he has 10 days in which to request withdrawal of his name. If the President takes no action his name stays on the ballot.

Dem Senator Asks President For Appraisal

Long-Range Foreign Aid Proposal Frowned On By Committee Chief

WASHINGTON (AP) — Several Democratic senators today predicted "lots more debate" on Secretary of State Dulles' contention that his "brink of war" policy had blocked Red China in the Korea, Indochinese and Formosan crises.

Dulles' approval of the statements attriubted to him in a Life Magazine interview led Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) to demand that President Eisenhower say whether he approves of Dulles' position.

Humphrey said Dulles' remarks were "indiscreet" and showed "callousness toward world opinion." He had told the Senate that Dulles was playing "politics with foreign policy."

Dulles also was confronted with a suggestion from Sen. George (D-Ga) that he back away from the administration's proposed foreign aid program or risk losing bipartisan support in Congress.

The secretary conferred separately yesterday with George, who is chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee; Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ), an administration supporter; and Sen. Knowland (R-Calif), Senate minority leader and like Smith a member of the foreign relations group. None revealed in detail the scope of the conversations.

* * *

GEORGE SAID, however, it would be "most untimely" for the secretary to push in Congress the administration request for approval of a 10-year program of foreign aid to supplant the present year-to-year plan.

"We are far more certain to maintain bipartisanship if that is not done," George declared.

Through a State Department spokesman Dulles approved as correct in substance remarks on which Life Magazine quoted him ths week. They included a statement that the administration had "walked to the brink" of war three times and averted it by "strong actons."

He credited the claimed success in blocking Red China to a policy of "deterrence," which he described as the "necessary art" of going "to the verge without getting into war."

Humphrey said the article, taken literally, "in effect expounds a

Ironton Death Still Listed As 'Mystery'

IRONTON (AP) — Although Lawrence County authorities had a prime witness lodged in jail, the death of a 27-year-old West Virginia woman still rated a "mystery" classification today.

No charges have been filed in the case and cause of death has not been determined.

Prosecutor Harold Spears put Harmon Potter, 20-year-old Columbus State Hospital attendant, through a night questioning session after Spears said the youth yesterday admitted strangling the woman Wednesday night. She has been identified as Myrtle Layne of Huntington.

But the prosecutor said no charges would be filed until his investigation was complete, and he had located "another witness." He did not elaborate.

Coroner Dr. Harry Nenni when informed of Potter's alleged statements to Spears concerning the "strangling" in a lover's lane near the Ohio River, said he would stick to his original opinion that the woman died of exposure and alcoholism. He has made no official ruling and said it would probably come in about a week after reports are sent to him from the Ohio State University laboratory.

Married and father of two, Potter was described by Columbus State Hospital officials as "quiet but with little initiative."

Potter was arrested after a car found near the lover's lane was traced to another hospital attendant who said he loaned it to Potter.

Automakers Ask Ohio OK On Pay Deals

COLUMBUS (AP)—Two automakers have called for Ohio legislative approval of supplemental layoff pay plans, rejected by state voters last November.

Spokesmen for Ford and General Motors yesterday asked the legislative service committee, fact-finding body of the General Assembly to recommend legislation for the layoff pay plans to the 1957 Legislature.

Sen. Fred W. Danner (R-Summit) committee chairman, said his group would hear recommendations from labor representatives later.

The Detroit representatives said contracts negotiated with the United Auto Workers guaranteed their workers 60 to 65 per cent of their normal take home pay for a maximum of 26 weeks.

The companies would add supplementary funds to state jobless benefits to reach the income level stipulated.

Under the Ford and GM contracts, states where two-thirds of the firms' workers are employed must approve the plans before mid-1957. The contracts cannot become effective without such approval.

Two of the "big three" of the auto industry, General Motors and Chrysler, yesterday reported adjustments in production schedules will result in layoffs affecting nearly 7,500 employes. Ford previously reported a layoff of 4,600.

Negro Physician's Home Is Riddled

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — The house of a prominent Negro physician, in a section where white homes adjoin, was riddled yesterday.

Dr. C. A. Augustus said he and his wife retired about 11 p. m. Thursday, and did not discover the damage until morning.

Police said apparently three shotgun charges and rifle or pistol bullts were fired into the dwelling. No one was hurt. Windows in a bedroom in which the couple's two small daughters slept were smashed.

5 Missionaries Given Burials

Americans Massacred In Ecuadoran Jungle

QUITO, Ecuador (AP)—The bodies of five U.S. missionaries massacred by savage Indian tribesmen they had hoped to convert to Christianity, were buried in Ecuador's jungle yesterday near the stripped skeleton of their plane.

The search for the missing men came to a grim close when rescue parties found the fifth body in the remote Curaray River Valley. The others had been located by air and ground searchers combing the jungle habitat of the primitive Auca Indians.

Grady Parrott, president of the Missionary Aviation Fellowship, announced the fate of the five who apparently were attacked just after radioing "here come a group of Aucas we have not known before."

The dead men were Peter Flemin, Seattle, Wash., Nathaniel Saint, Huntingdon Valley, Pa., James Elliot, Portland, Ore; Edward McCully, Milwaukee, Wis., and Roger Youderian, Lansing, Mich.

Abraham Vanderpuy, president of the Inter-American Fellowship of Ecuador, said the missionaries' Piper plane, "Wings of Mercy," will be left at the death scene as "a witness of their sacrifice." Searchers said the Indians had stripped the craft.

* * *

THE MISSION group had been trying to win the Aucas' friendship the last four months.

They had made numerous flights over an Auca settlement along the river and dropped machetes, beads and other trinkets which apparently delighted the tribesmen.

Finally the party landed on a river bank, but met death.

In Portland, Elliot's father, Fred Elliot, read reporters letters from his son telling of the mission's plans to convert the Aucas.

"We would like to reach this tribe," one passage said, "these peoples are killers. They do not have so much as a word for God in their language."

Cop Suspended For Role As 'Private Eye'

NEWARK (AP) — Police Officer George Campbell, 28, was given seven days' suspension yesterday for playing "private eye" in a divorce case.

This was the story told during Campbell's hearing:

Last Tuesday, osteopath Guy Reed had a sneaking suspicion two cars were following him to a roadside restaurant. Reed and his wife have a divorce action pending. He phoned a friend about the cars, called police, and headed back to town.

In Newark, police reported intercepting this lineup:

Dr. Reed in the first car followed by Campbell and an attorney for Mrs. Reed in the second car, the friend of Dr. Reed's who meantime had joined the chase in the third car. Behind in the fourth car was a private detective from Columbus following everyone.

Police Chief L. L. Hall said Campbell was playing private detective off-hours in uniform. Campbell said the only part of his uniform he was wearing were the pants. He has until Jan. 24 to appeal the suspension.

Coincidence Brings First Squawl In Car

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A jet-propelled stork disregarded Friday the 13th and took advantage of a coincidence, and that's why Linda Lou Rogers' first squawl came from a car.

He found such a house.

The coincidence: Mrs. Ella Williamson lives there. A practical nurse, she pitched in and delivered Linda Lou in the back seat of the car.

Dying Boy, 5, Being Flown To Shrine

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—A 5-year-old Los Alamos boy has left Albuquerque municipal airport aboard an airliner on a "mercy flight" to the Lourdes shrine in France.

The child is believed dying of leukemia. The State Department, medical authorities, Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, the Red Cross, Salvation Army and two airlines have pooled resources and influence to pave the way for the flight.

Accompanying Luis Dealva, thought a "terminal case" unless the shrine produces a miracle, are his father and mother Mr. and Mrs. Dealva of Los Alamos and a special nurse, Elizabeth Ready.

They are to reach Paris by tomorrow morning and hope to bathe the child in the shrine's waters by tomorrow night.

"We decided on the trip only yesterday," the boy's father, a technician in the radiological physics group in Los Alamos, said.

The father told close friends that he realized the child might die before reaching the shrine.

The boy became ill with leukemia (cancer of the blood) a year and a half ago. Blood transfusions and medicines reportedly gave him only temporary relief.

"I love horses," she replied.

The girl was released in her mother's custody.

11 Ex-Cons Quickly Indicted In Brinks Case; 2 Missing

BOSTON (AP)—Eleven ex-convicts were under indictment today for participation in the $1,219,000 Brink's robbery of Jan. 17, 1950, and a nationwide hunt was on for two of the men and the money, the largest cash theft in history.

A Suffolk County grand jury returned 46 indictments against the men, two in absentia and one posthumously, after listening to Joseph (Specs) O'Keefe, 47, describe yesterday the fantastic planning that went into the robbery.

The FBI listed the case as "solved" Thursday with the arrest of six of the group. Two already were in jail for other crimes, another died of natural causes a year ago and two more are missing.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover asked public aid in apprehending the two suspects still at large—James Ignatius Faherty, 44, of Boston and Thomas Francis Richardson, 48, of Weymouth.

The story told by O'Keefe, himself an oft named suspect in the Brink's robbery, resulted in the indictments—containing 148 counts and 10 alleged offenses—against:

* * *

STAN GUSCIORA, 36, now in a Pittsburgh jail; Joseph S. Banfield, 45, now dead; Anthony Pino, 48; Michael V. Geagan, 47; Vincent J. Costa, 41; Joseph F. McGinnis, 52; Adolph Maffie, 44; Henry Baker, 49; Richardson; Faherty; and O'Keefe himself, who was brought from jail to testify.

O'Keefe told this startling story of the fabulous theft:

The robbery had been planned for a year and a half and during that time, the robbers made frequent visits to the Brink's plant at night to remove locks from doors, have keys made for them and return them without the single night watchman becoming suspicious.

The robbers didn't need help from the inside. No Brink's employe was in on the job because the group had keys to "every lock in the joint."

O'Keefe said he decided to talk because he didn't get his share of the loot. But, Boston newspapers hinted there were other reasons why he decided to tell all.

The newspapers quoted unidentified sources as saying O'Keefe feared for his life at the hands of his underworld friends after he was released from jail in Springfield, where he was due for freedom next month.

Girl Pleading For Aid To Chinese Medic

CINCINNATI (AP)—A 10-year-old girl, in a letter today to the Cincinnati Enquirer, said a Chinese woman doctor should be permitted to remain in the United States.

Sharon Smith, a fifth grader in Bellevue, Ky., wrote in support of Dr. Stella B. Yen, 26, who said she feared for her life if she was returned to Red China when her visa expires in April.

Rep. Hess (R-Ohio) has introduced legislation which would permit her to stay.

"I read your article in the newspaper about Dr. Yen," Sharon wrote. "I was a patient of hers at Speers Hospital (Dayton, Ky.) about two weeks ago. She helped me get well and now I'm feeling fine.

"Sometimes I wonder why we call America a free country, when a Chinese doctor is here trying to help, maybe thousands of people to get well, and now they try to send her back to Red China where she might be killed.

"I am only a child, that I know, but here she has a happy home and I hope she keeps it."

Bellevue is across the Ohio River from Cincinnati.

Dr. Yen is now a resident in obstetrics in Good Samaritan Hospital, Dayton, Ohio.

If Clothing Manufacturers are smart they'll take a tip from this Necktie and start designing more all-purpose wearing apparel. To help them get started here are a few suggestions. Why not a Dress Shirt with four sleeves, so that when one pair got dirty you could roll them up and put your arms through the other set. Or perhaps a combination shoe lace and pajama string. This would be very practical as well as economical as very few people wear their shoes to bed. Or a Fedora with a Television screen built into the crown for men who get bored while watching their hats in restaurants. This last idea sounds so good maybe I better try to sell it to Abercrombie and Fitch. Or Sears and Roebuck. Or Martin and Lewis.

Automakers Ask Ohio OK On Pay Deals

COLUMBUS (AP)—Two automakers have called for Ohio legislative approval of supplemental layoff pay plans, rejected by state voters last November.

Spokesmen for Ford and General Motors yesterday asked the legislative service committee, fact-finding body of the General Assembly to recommend legislation for the layoff pay plans to the 1957 Legislature.

Sen. Fred W. Danner (R-Summit) committee chairman, said his group would hear recommendations from labor representatives later.

The Detroit representatives said contracts negotiated with the United Auto Workers guaranteed their workers 60 to 65 per cent of their normal take home pay for a maximum of 26 weeks.

The companies would add supplementary funds to state jobless benefits to reach the income level stipulated.

Under the Ford and GM contracts, states where two-thirds of the firms' workers are employed must approve the plans before mid-1957. The contracts cannot become effective without such approval.

Two of the "big three" of the auto industry, General Motors and Chrysler, yesterday reported adjustments in production schedules will result in layoffs affecting nearly 7,500 employes. Ford previously reported a layoff of 4,600.

5 Missionaries Given Burials

Americans Massacred In Ecuadoran Jungle

QUITO, Ecuador (AP)—The bodies of five U.S. missionaries massacred by savage Indian tribesmen they had hoped to convert to Christianity, were buried in Ecuador's jungle yesterday near the stripped skeleton of their plane.

The search for the missing men came to a grim close when rescue parties found the fifth body in the remote Curaray River Valley. The others had been located by air and ground searchers combing the jungle habitat of the primitive Auca Indians.

Grady Parrott, president of the Missionary Aviation Fellowship, announced the fate of the five who apparently were attacked just after radioing "here come a group of Aucas we have not known before."

The dead men were Peter Flemin, Seattle, Wash., Nathaniel Saint, Huntingdon Valley, Pa., James Elliot, Portland, Ore; Edward McCully, Milwaukee, Wis., and Roger Youderian, Lansing, Mich.

Abraham Vanderpuy, president of the Inter-American Fellowship of Ecuador, said the missionaries' Piper plane, "Wings of Mercy," will be left at the death scene as "a witness of their sacrifice." Searchers said the Indians had stripped the craft.

THE MISSION group had been trying to win the Aucas' friendship the last four months.

They had made numerous flights over an Auca settlement along the river and dropped machetes, beads and other trinkets which apparently delighted the tribesmen.

Finally the party landed on a river bank, but met death.

In Portland, Elliot's father, Fred Elliot, read reporters letters from his son telling of the mission's plans to convert the Aucas.

"We would like to reach this tribe," one passage said, "these peoples are killers. They do not have so much as a word for God in their language."

Cop Suspended For Role As 'Private Eye'

NEWARK (AP) — Police Officer George Campbell, 28, was given seven days' suspension yesterday for playing "private eye" in a divorce case.

This was the story told during Campbell's hearing:

Last Tuesday, osteopath Guy Reed had a sneaking suspicion two cars were following him to a roadside restaurant. Reed and his wife have a divorce action pending. He phoned a friend about the cars, called police, and headed back to town.

In Newark, police reported intercepting this lineup:

Dr. Reed in the first car followed by Campbell and an attorney for Mrs. Reed in the second car, the friend of Dr. Reed's who meantime had joined the chase in the third car. Behind in the fourth car was a private detective from Columbus following everyone.

Police Chief L. L. Hall said Campbell was playing private detective off-hours in uniform. Campbell said the only part of his uniform he was wearing were the pants. He has until Jan. 24 to appeal the suspension.

Coincidence Brings First Squawl In Car

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A jet-propelled stork disregarded Friday the 13th and took advantage of a coincidence, and that's why Linda Lou Rogers' first squawl came from a car.

Jesse Lee Rogers, 30, and his wife were on their way to a hospital when "we knew it was going to be too late. I looked at the houses, hunting for wires that would tell me a telephone was there."

He found such a house.

The coincidence: Mrs. Ella Williamson lives there. A practical nurse, she pitched in and delivered Linda Lou in the back seat of the car.

Dying Boy, 5, Being Flown To Shrine

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—A 5-year-old Los Alamos boy has left Albuquerque municipal airport aboard an airliner on a "mercy flight" to the Lourdes shrine in France.

The child is believed dying of leukemia. The State Department, medical authorities, Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, the Red Cross, Salvation Army and two airlines have pooled resources and influence to pave the way for the flight.

Accompanying Luis Dealva, thought a "terminal case" unless the shrine produces a miracle, are his father and mother Mr. and Mrs. Dealva of Los Alamos and a special nurse, Elizabeth Ready.

They are to reach Paris by tomorrow morning and hope to bathe the child in the shrine's waters by tomorrow night.

"We decided on the trip only yesterday," the boy's father, a technician in the radiological physics group in Los Alamos, said.

The father told close friends that he realized the child might die before reaching the shrine.

The boy became ill with leukemia (cancer of the blood) a year and a half ago. Blood transfusions and medicines reportedly gave him only temporary relief.

"I love horses," she replied.

The girl was released in her mother's custody.

11 Ex-Cons Quickly Indicted In Brinks Case; 2 Missing

BOSTON (AP)—Eleven ex-convicts were under indictment today for participation in the $1,219,000 Brink's robbery of Jan. 17, 1950, and a nationwide hunt was on for two of the men and the money, the largest cash theft in history.

A Suffolk County grand jury returned 46 indictments against the men, two in absentia and one posthumously, after listening to Joseph (Specs) O'Keefe, 47, describe yesterday the fantastic planning that went into the robbery.

The FBI listed the case as "solved" Thursday with the arrest of six of the group. Two already were in jail for other crimes, another died of natural causes a year ago and two more are missing.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover asked public aid in apprehending the two suspects still at large—James Ignatius Faherty, 44, of Boston and Thomas Francis Richardson, 48, of Weymouth.

The story told by O'Keefe, himself an oft named suspect in the Brink's robbery, resulted in the indictments—containing 148 counts and 10 alleged offenses—against:

* * *

STAN GUSCIORA, 36, now in a Pittsburgh jail; Joseph S. Banfield, 45, now dead; Anthony Pino, 48; Michael V. Geagan, 47; Vincent J. Costa, 41; Joseph F. McGinnis, 52; Adolph Maffie, 44; Henry Baker, 49; Richardson; Faherty; and O'Keefe himself, who was brought from jail to testify.

O'Keefe told this startling story of the fabulous theft:

The robbery had been planned for a year and a half and during that time, the robbers made frequent visits to the Brink's plant at night to remove locks from doors, have keys made for them and return them without the single night watchman becoming suspicious.

The robbers didn't need help from the inside. No Brink's employe was in on the job because the group had keys to "every lock in the joint."

O'Keefe said he decided to talk because he didn't get his share of the loot. But, Boston newspapers hinted there were other reasons why he decided to tell all.

The newspapers quoted unidentified sources as saying O'Keefe feared for his life at the hands of his underworld friends after he was released from jail in Springfield, where he was due for freedom next month.

Girl Pleading For Aid To Chinese Medic

CINCINNATI (AP)—A 10-year-old girl, in a letter today to the Cincinnati Enquirer, said a Chinese woman doctor should be permitted to remain in the United States.

Sharon Smith, a fifth grader in Bellevue, Ky., wrote in support of Dr. Stella B. Yen, 26, who said she feared for her life if she was returned to Red China when her visa expires in April.

Rep. Hess (R-Ohio) has introduced legislation which would permit her to stay.

"I read your article in the newspaper about Dr. Yen," Sharon wrote. "I was a patient of hers at Speers Hospital (Dayton, Ky.) about two weeks ago. She helped me get well and now I'm feeling fine.

"Sometimes I wonder why we call America a free country, when a Chinese doctor is here trying to help, maybe thousands of people to get well, and now they try to send her back to Red China where she might be killed.

"I am only a child, that I know, but here she has a happy home and I hope she keeps it."

Bellevue is across the Ohio River from Cincinnati.

Dr. Yen is now a resident in obstetrics in Good Samaritan Hospital, Dayton, Ohio.

"ALL PURPOSE NECKTIE"

If Clothing Manufacturers are smart they'll take a tip from this Necktie and start designing more all-purpose wearing apparel. To help them get started here are a few suggestions. Why not a Dress Shirt with four sleeves, so that when one pair got dirty you could roll them up and put your arms through the other set. Or perhaps a combination shoe lace and pajama string. This would be very practical as well as economical as very few people wear their shoes to bed. Or a Fedora with a Television screen built into the crown for men who get bored while watching their hats in restaurants. This last idea sounds so good maybe I better try to sell it to Abercrombie and Fitch. Or Sears and Roebuck. Or Martin and Lewis.

Poor District Schools To Be Eyed By Solons

Money For Buildings Seen Only Blockade For Sepcial Session

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Money for new classrooms in poor school districts loomed today as the only major stumbling block in the path of a short legislative session opening Monday.

The special session will deal with financing for new public buildings under a voter-approved 150 million dollar bond issue to be retired from an extra penny tax on cigarettes.

Legislative leaders said building programs for state hospitals and universities appeared to be well in hand. But they expressed concern over lack of details in requests for funds to expand public schools and other buldings.

Member of the new state school board said 42 school districts had listed needs calling for more than 11 million dollars to care for improperly housed pupils. They exect more requests.

Board members said another 2¾ millions were needed to fulfill requests that could not be met out of the two millions appropriated by the last Legislature for emergency construction.

The total of nearly 14 millions already listed in public school needs confronted legislators with a knotty financial problem.

They agreed that schools facing rapidly rising enrollments should get help but they wondered how to provide the money.

Provisions of the bond issue approved in the November election limit issues to 30 millions a year. Legislators expect to allocate half the available money to hospitals and prisons and split the balance among the six state universities, poor school districts and possibly a start on new state office buildings.

Dr. John D. Porterfield, state mental health director, pared topheavy requests to fit the 15 million dollar maximum he can expect for immediate new construction.

Jacob B. Taylor, Ohio State University vice president representing the inter-university council, also presented a condensed version of building needs to the State Capital Planning and Improvement Board. A school committee of the Legislative Service Commission still is wrestling with public school requests.

Leaders said many legislators might be reluctant to appropriate money for schools without assurance that planning was sufficiently advanced to guarantee early construction. A wrangle could prolong the special session beyond next week, law-makers warned.

Robert A. Manchester of Canfield, new school board president, has suggested additional appropriations from the state surplus to meet pressing school needs.

Rep. J. Frank McClure (R-Ashland), planning board chairman, said state revenues may exceed estimates by some 25 millions this year. He declined to speculate whether legislators might vote to tap those funds for schools.

Some members of the General Assembly have sugested using surplus funds to avoid a large bond issue with the attendant expense and interest charges. Others expressed a desire to follow Gov. Frank J. Lausche's tacit approval of proposals for a bond issue to the maximum allowed.

The governor has indicated he would not ask the special session to deal with other matters.

A car driven southeast by John E. Allen, 22, collided with one driven by Harry E. Derexson, 27, who was heading northwest towards Circleville.

Treated and released were: Garnet Derexson, 13, cuts on shins and knees; Charles Derexson, 12, contusions of forehead; and Charles Schwartz, 17, injury to both knees and a bump on head.

Champaign County Fair Wins Laurels For '55 Exposition

COLUMBUS, Ohio — The Champaign County Fair has been named the best county exposition in Ohio of 1955.

The honor has been announced here by the Ohio Fair Managers' Assn. at the conclusion of its 31st annual convention.

The winning fair was awarded the Myers Y. Cooper trophy, named in honor of the former governor who made the presentation.

The association earlier had received a proposal from its resolutions committee that would give youth a voice in fair operation.

Under the proposal, a "supplementary organization" of junior fair representatives would attend the association's annual convention. The junior group would organize as a permanent organization at the 1957 convention.

The association president would name an advisory board for the youths.

Other resolutions called for:

The new state board of education to seek increased school participation in county fairs.

Repeat of the fair officials' workshop held at Ohio State University last year.

A proposal on livestock testing was dropped by the resolutions committee after one association member said a planned conference with state officials may make a proposal unnecessary.

A spokesman said the group wants steers to be tested for TB the same as dairy cattle before they are entered in fair competition.

The managers went on record asking that every effort be made to "negate the effect" of a decision by a Common Pleas Court which held that county fairs lacked the power of emnent domain to acquire fairground sites. The court was not identified.

Auca Indians Said Naked Bloodthirsty Tribesmen

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Auca Indians, presumed slayers of five flying missionaries from the United States, are a naked, bloodthirsty Ecuadorean tribe still living in the Stone Age.

They know almost nothing of modern civilization. They savagely destroy what little of it brushes against them.

This is the picture presented to a U.S. government agency by field agents who surveyed the region for possible rubber development during World War II.

The agents' reports to the Rubber Development Corp. were made available by the National Archives in the wake of reports that an Air Force helicopter had found four bodies near a camp the missionaries had established in the Amazon jungle reaches of Ecuador. Their aim was to Christianize the Aucas, described by visitors to the area as extremely ferocious.

"They are still Stone Age Indians. . .never contacted by white men or civilization. . .extremely savage and bellicose," says one report.

"They are," it goes on, "responsible for the death of many an old-time rubber worker and, more recently, massacred some laborers of the Shell Oil Co. Only a few months ago (in 1944) they savagely attacked on two occasions a peaceful Yumbo Indian village, kiling 10 people, mostly women and chidren."

Not much has been learned about the Aucas, says one report, because "those who saw them seldom lived to tell the tale."

Aucas are described as powerfully built savages who go "completely naked" and daub themselves with war paint.

"They combine their instincts of jungle beasts with human intelligence," the investigators said. "They fall on their victims with blood-curdling cries, virtually paralyzing them. They always strike from ambush."

Aucas use as their weapon a lance 9 to 12 feet long. One agent, Richard F. D'Orsay, said he was inclined to doubt the blood-curdling stories of what they did with their lances until he saw for himself the result of an Auca hit-and-run attack:

"There were six bodies lying on the beach, two women and four children. The dead were literally nailed to the ground by lances. The body of a 2-year-old child was impaled by a 12-foot lance which was stuck in the ground like a flag."

Nonetheless D'Orsay reported there were "tremendous possibilities" for rubber production in the northeast Ecuador region—if something could be done about the Aucas.

H. M. Beavers Reappointed To Vote Board

Another reminder of a big year of politics ahead came today with the announcement that Harold M. Beavers has been reappointed as Democratic member of the Pickaway County Board of Elections.

Chairman Karl Herrmann of the county Democratic Executive Committee disclosed that Beavers has been reappointed for a four-year term. The committee's action will be reported for routine approval to Secretary of State Ted Brown.

Herrmann said the committee did not endorse any of the candidates already in the various races. A number of candidates have already taken out petitions for the May primaries, and several others are expected to do likewise in the near future.

Deadline is February 8.

NO EPLACEMENT has yet been named for Mrs. Nellie Stout, who recently resigned her position as clerk of the elections board.

However, it was said that several applicants seek the post and that a meeting of the board to fill the vacancy, at least on temporary basis, will probably be held soon.

He said such statements "sap the vitality of our alliances and dull the edge of our foreign policy."

British newspapers have criticized Dulles sharply in the wake of the magazine article.

The first Russian comment came early today when the Moscow radio quoted an editorial in the government newspaper Izvestia as saying Dulles' brink of war remarks "can be regarded as open encouragement of war-like statements on the part of American generals and admirals."

Humphrey told the Senate that what Dulles said was at odds with some of his testimony before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee earlier in the week.

Poor District Schools To Be Eyed By Solons

Money For Buildings Seen Only Blockade For Sepcial Session

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Money for new classrooms in poor school districts loomed today as the only major stumbling block in the path of a short legislative session opening Monday.

The special session will deal with financing for new public buildings under a voter-approved 150 million dollar bond issue to be retired from an extra penny tax on cigarettes.

Legislative leaders said building programs for state hospitals and universities appeared to be well in hand. But they expressed concern over lack of details in requests for funds to expand public schools and other buldings.

Member of the new state school board said 42 school districts had listed needs calling for more than 11 million dollars to care for improperly housed pupils. They exect more requests.

Board members said another 2¾ millions were needed to fulfill requests that could not be met out of the two millions appropriated by the last Legislature for emergency construction.

The total of nearly 14 millions already listed in public school needs confronted legislators with a knotty financial problem.

They agreed that schools facing rapidly rising enrollments should get help but they wondered how to provide the money.

Provisions of the bond issue approved in the November election limit issues to 30 millions a year. Legislators expect to allocate half the available money to hospitals and prisons and split the balance among the six state universities, poor school districts and possibly a start on new state office buildings.

Dr. John D. Porterfield, state mental health director, pared top-heavy requests to fit the 15 million dollar maximum he can expect for immediate new construction.

Jacob B. Taylor, Ohio State University vice president representing the inter-university council, also presented a condensed version of building needs to the State Capital Planning and Improvement Board. A school committee of the Legislative Service Commission still is wrestling with public school requests.

Leaders said many legislators might be reluctant to appropriate money for schools without assurance that planning was sufficiently advanced to guarantee early construction. A wrangle could prolong the special session beyond next week, law-makers warned.

Robert A. Manchester of Canfield, new school board president, has suggested additional appropriations from the state surplus to meet pressing school needs.

Rep. J. Frank McClure (R-Ashland), planning board chairman, said state revenues may exceed estimates by some 25 millions this year. He declined to speculate whether legislators might vote to tap those funds for schools.

Some members of the General Assembly have sugested using surplus funds to avoid a large bond issue with the attendant expense and interest charges. Others expressed a desire to follow Gov. Frank J. Lausche's tacit approval of proposals for a bond issue to the maximum allowed.

The governor has indicated he would not ask the special session to deal with other matters.

Treated and released were: Garnet Derexson, 13, cuts on shins and knees; Charles Derexson, 12, contusions of forehead; and Charles Schwartz, 17, injury to both knees and a bump on head.

Champaign County Fair Wins Laurels For '55 Exposition

COLUMBUS, Ohio — The Champaign County Fair has been named the best county exposition in Ohio of 1955.

The honor has been announced here by the Ohio Fair Managers' Assn. at the conclusion of its 31st annual convention.

The winning fair was awarded the Myers Y. Cooper trophy, named in honor of the former governor who made the presentation.

The association earlier had received a proposal from its resolutions committee that would give youth a voice in fair operation.

Under the proposal, a "supplementary organization" of junior fair representatives would attend the association's annual convention. The junior group would organize as a permanent organization at the 1957 convention.

The association president would name an advisory board for the youths.

Other resolutions called for:

The new state board of education to seek increased school participation in county fairs.

Repeat of the fair officials' workshop held at Ohio State University last year.

A proposal on livestock testing was dropped by the resolutions committee after one association member said a planned conference with state officials may make a proposal unnecessary.

A spokesman said the group wants steers to be tested for TB the same as dairy cattle before they are entered in fair competition.

The managers went on record asking that every effort be made to "negate the effect" of a decision by a Common Pleas Court which held that county fairs lacked the power of emnent domain to acquire fairground sites. The court was not identified.

Auca Indians Said Naked Bloodthirsty Tribesmen

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Auca Indians, presumed slayers of five flying missionaries from the United States, are a naked, bloodthirsty Ecuadorean tribe still living in the Stone Age.

They know almost nothing of modern civilization. They savagely destroy what little of it brushes against them.

This is the picture presented to a U.S. government agency by field agents who surveyed the region for possible rubber development during World War II.

The agents' reports to the Rubber Development Corp. were made available by the National Archives in the wake of reports that an Air Force helicopter had found four bodies near a camp the missionaries had established in the Amazon jungle reaches of Ecuador. Their aim was to Christianize the Aucas, described by visitors to the area as extremely ferocious.

"They are still Stone Age Indians. . .never contacted by white men or civilization. . .extremely savage and bellicose," says one report.

"They are," it goes on, "responsible for the death of many an old-time rubber worker and, more recently, massacred some laborers of the Shell Oil Co. Only a few months ago (in 1944) they savagely attacked on two occasions a peaceful Yumbo Indian village, kiling 10 people, mostly women and chidren."

Not much has been learned about the Aucas, says one report, because "those who saw them seldom lived to tell the tale."

Aucas are described as powerfully built savages who go "completely naked" and daub themselves with war paint.

"They combine their instincts of jungle beasts with human intelligence," the investigators said. "They fall on their victims with blood-curdling cries, virtually paralyzing them. They always strike from ambush."

Aucas use as their weapon a lance 9 to 12 feet long. One agent, Richard F. D'Orsay, said he was inclined to doubt the blood-curdling stories of what they did with their lances until he saw for himself the result of an Auca hit-and-run attack:

"There were six bodies lying on the beach, two women and four children. The dead were literally nailed to the ground by lances. The body of a 2-year-old child was impaled by a 12-foot lance which was stuck in the ground like a flag."

Nonetheless D'Orsay reported there were "tremendous possibilities" for rubber production in the northeast Ecuador region—if something could be done about the Aucas.

H. M. Beavers Reappointed To Vote Board

Another reminder of a big year of politics ahead came today with the announcement that Harold M. Beavers has been reappointed as Democratic member of the Pickaway County Board of Elections.

Chairman Karl Herrmann of the county Democratic Executive Committee disclosed that Beavers has been reappointed for a four-year term. The committee's action will be reported for routine approval to Secretary of State Ted Brown.

Herrmann said the committee did not endorse any of the candidates already in the various races. A number of candidates have already taken out petitions for the May primaries, and several others are expected to do likewise in the near future.

Deadline is February 8.

NO EPLACEMENT has yet been named for Mrs. Nellie Stout, who recently resigned her position as clerk of the elections board.

However, it was said that several applicants seek the post and that a meeting of the board to fill the vacancy, at least on temporary basis, will probably be held soon.

He said such statements "sap the vitality of our alliances and dull the edge of our foreign policy."

British newspapers have criticized Dulles sharply in the wake of the magazine article.

The first Russian comment came early today when the Moscow radio quoted an editorial in the government newspaper Izvestia as saying Dulles' brink of war remarks "can be regarded as open encouragement of war-like statements on the part of American generals and admirals."

Humphrey told the Senate that what Dulles said was at odds with some of his testimony before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee earlier in the week.

BRING A FRIEND TO CHURCH WITH YOU

Church Of Christ Members To Hear Sermon On "Giving"

"Financing the Lord's Work" is announced as the sermon topic for the Church of Christ Sunday. This is to be the last in a series of lessons on this important subject.

In commenting on the lesson Evangelist Charles Cochran says: "The Lord has designated 'giving' as the scriptural means of raising money with which to carry on His work. This giving is to be done by Christians upon the 'first day of the week' as 'they have been prospered,' or in proportion to their income (1 Cor. 16:1-2).

"Also, each one must be able to give 'cheerfully and willingly' and not grudgingly or of necessity (2 Cor. 9:6-7). Realizing that our reaping will be in proportion to our sowing, Paul urges us to give liberally or bountifully (2 Cor. 9:6; Gal. 6:7-8). This is God's plan of supporting the church and one that will always work if followed.

"God has recorded some wonderful examples for our study and profit, to inspire us to do more in behalf of His cause. He set the great example of giving for us by not only giving to man great and wonderful material blessings, but His own Son also (John 3:16), through whom he extended to man even greater spiritual blessings. It is impossible to interpret rightly our responsibility to God except in the light of God's giving to us.

"God's people, Israel, had learned the grace of giving when asked to give for the construction of the Tabernacle. They gave so much that they had to be restrained from giving (Ex. 35, 36).

"The poor widow who cast the two mites into the treasury of the Lord was commended by Jesus for her very great sacrifice (Mk. 12:-41-44). He also endorsed Zacchaeus giving away half of all that he had (Lk. 19:8-9). The Jerusalem Christians gave their possessions and goods (Acts 2:45), and the Macedonians first gave 'themselves' to the Lord (2 Cor. 8:5). All those who gave so liberally were blessed in their giving. We have the assurance that we will likewise be blessed."

"Christian Family Life" Sunday Topic Of Presbyterians

"Christian Family Life" is the theme for worship at the Presbyterian Church Sunday morning, at the usual hour, 10:30.

There are still millions of families n America where the bonds of affection are kept strong. But even these are not free from the "withering' process that has become a major problem in our national family life.

However, it is still possible to recover or produce a conception of family life so intrinsically appealing, that it will make America dissatisfied with the "withering" of the family in either the Russian or the Western style.

Mr. Mitchell will develop this sermon on the basis of the words of Jesus concerning family life, found in Matthew 7:9-12, and Matthew 12:46-50, which are strongly echoed in the Letter to the Ephesians, 6:4, 'Ye fathers, provoke not your children to wrath: but bring them up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord."

The Choir will sing, "The Fining Pot Is For Silver," from "The Holy City," by Gaul. Directed by Mrs. Clark Will. The group also will lead the congregation in singing the hymns "Holy, Holy, Holy"; "For the Beauty of the Earth"; "On Our Way Rejocing."

At the organ, Mrs. Theodore L. Huston will play, "Adoration," by from Meistersinger," and "Exsultemus" by Kinder.

In the evening the Westminster Fellowship Youth Group will hold its regular meeting. Devotions will be held in the Chapel with a Bible Quiz program following. Dottie Boggs, will serve as moderator.

A ruler . . . the humblest of instruments! Yet it meets two tremendously important needs.

It guides . . . giving man a straight, sure rule by which to draw his lines and sketch his plans.

And it measures . . . showing man where to begin, and where to end, proving the dimensions of his work.

That which the simple ruler does in the physical realm of life is the work of the Church in the spiritual realm. For every man's life is like a blank sheet of paper, until, by his own living, he places upon it the lines which give it meaning and character.

The Church is our guide . . . giving us the tried and sure truths by which we can live . . . pointing us to the straight and unwavering paths which lead to God.

And the Church is our measure . . . showing us the standards by which every man's life must be judged . . . revealing the Christ whose teaching and example are the beginning and ending of all spiritual achievement, the perfect dimensions of life.

Are you letting the Church meet these tremendous needs in your life?

HOLY BIBLE

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

BRING A FRIEND TO CHURCH WITH YOU

Church Of Christ Members To Hear Sermon On "Giving"

"Financing the Lord's Work" is announced as the sermon topic for the Church of Christ Sunday. This is to be the last in a series of lessons on this important subject.

In commenting on the lesson Evangelist Charles Cochran says: "The Lord has designated 'giving' as the scriptural means of raising money with which to carry on His work. This giving is to be done by Christians upon the 'first day of the week' as 'they have been prospered,' or in proportion to their income (1 Cor. 16:1-2).

"Also, each one must be able to give 'cheerfully and willingly' and not grudgingly or of necessity (2 Cor. 9:6-7). Realizing that our reaping will be in proportion to our sowing, Paul urges us to give liberally or bountifully (2 Cor. 9:6; Gal. 6:7-8). This is God's plan of supporting the church and one that will always work if followed.

"God has recorded some wonderful examples for our study and profit, to inspire us to do more in behalf of His cause. He set the great example of giving for us by not only giving to man great and wonderful material blessings, but His own Son also (John 3:16), through whom he extended to man even greater spiritual blessings. It is impossible to interpret rightly our responsibility to God except in the light of God's giving to us.

"God's people, Israel, had learned the grace of giving when asked to give for the construction of the Tabernacle. They gave so much that they had to be restrained from giving (Ex. 35, 36).

"The poor widow who cast the two mites into the treasury of the Lord was commended by Jesus for her very great sacrifice (Mk. 12:-41-44). He also endorsed Zacchaeus giving away half of all that he had (Lk. 19:8-9). The Jerusalem Christians gave their possessions and goods (Acts 2:45), and the Macedonians first gave 'themselves' to the Lord (2 Cor. 8:5). All those who gave so liberally were blessed in their giving. We have the assurance that we will likewise be blessed."

"Christian Family Life" Sunday Topic Of Presbyterians

"Christian Family Life" is the theme for worship at the Presbyterian Church Sunday morning, at the usual hour, 10:30.

There are still millions of families n America where the bonds of affection are kept strong. But even these are not free from the "withering' process that has become a major problem in our national family life.

However, it is still possible to recover or produce a conception of family life so intrinsically appealing, that it will make America dissatisfied with the "withering" of the family in either the Russian or the Western style.

Mr. Mitchell will develop this sermon on the basis of the words of Jesus concerning family life, found in Matthew 7:9-12, and Matthew 12:46-50, which are strongly echoed in the Letter to the Ephesians, 6:4, 'Ye fathers, provoke not your children to wrath: but bring them up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord."

The Choir will sing, "The Fining Pot Is For Silver," from "The Holy City," by Gaul. Directed by Mrs. Clark Will. The group also will lead the congregation in singing the hymns "Holy, Holy, Holy"; "For the Beauty of the Earth"; "On Our Way Rejoicing."

At the organ, Mrs. Theodore L. Huston will play, "Adoration," by from Meistersinger," and "Exsultemus" by Kinder.

In the evening the Westminster Fellowship Youth Group will hold its regular meeting. Devotions will be held in the Chapel with a Bible Quiz program following. Dottie Boggs, will serve as moderator.

"The Specialist" is the topic chosen by the Rev. O. F. Gibbs for his sermon Sunday morning in First Evangelical United Brethren Church. The Fidelis chorus, directed by Fred Brown, will sing "Wonderful Grace of Jesus" (Haldor Lillenas).

VA IS ADAMANT

THE VETERANS Administration has announced its opposition to Hoover Commission proposals to revamp the nation's programs for aiding and caring for former servicemen.

This was to be expected because the VA bureaucrats have a vested interest in preventing any limitation of their activities. But VA officials also believe they have the interests of veterans at heart and see the Hoover recommendations as striking at those interests without justification.

There is this to be said: Efficiency and reform are to be supported in any field, even the VA, but only as long as the basic obligations of the nation to veterans are not compromised.

It is certain that there is no point in hospitals standing vacant. The Hoover group found three service and VA hospitals in New York City, each only partly-filled. It recommended closing one and using the other two to full capacity to save operating costs.

However, any limitation on veterans benefits—such as free hospital care for non-service-connected disability — is unlikely to get much support in Congress. The veterans' lobbies are strong and Congress is very sensitive to pressure from a group of citizens that numbers in the millions.

THE REAL REASON

REAL REASON why the "revenooers" have given in and issued an announcement through the Internal Revenue Service that aid will be extended to those needing it in filling out their income tax returns is now apparent. The tax auditors are reported to have had such difficulty unraveling the arithmetic of those who formerly asked assistance that they felt time would be saved by having government experts do it before the filing.

Whatever the reason, the government's tax army is now engaged in offering help to harried taxpayers who desire to have this annual chore over with early this year. T. Coleman Andrews, former Internal Revenue Commissioner who departed from Washington, announced the plan to extend no more aid to taxpayers. His successor then reversed his action.

Pressure from the public to resume the old practice of assisting those who had trouble in making sense out of income tax form gobblydegook was immediate and impressive. Perhaps it came from persons who felt there was some solace in having company while being bled white. Or perhaps having someone to grip to personally helped ease the pain.

UN AND RED CHINA

A PROPOSAL IS reported to be gaining headway to hold the next general assembly of the United Nations in November, after the U. S. presidential election. There is also sentiment to have the assembly meet outside the U. S., probably in Rome.

There is no mystery about the reason for proposing an assembly date after the presidential election. A principal issue of the next session is expected to be admission of Red China to the UN. This is opposed by a large majority of the American people, and officially by Washington. But there is rising sentiment among this country's allies to recognize the reds.

But neither party wants to see such an issue debated in the U. S. during the presidential campaign.

The proposal to hold the next session outside of the United States is based on similar grounds. Those who advance the suggestion do so on the premise that the American people would be less interested in what transpires if the dirty work is done outside of this country.

FABULOUS AUTO INDUSTRY

THE NUMBER of old jalopies still on the roads is the best refutation of the fears of pessimists who wonder audibly whether automobile manufacturing companies can continue their present rate of production during the entire year of 1956. Replacement demand plus the yearly gain in the economy should absorb as many new cars this year as were produced during record 1955.

Not only is the automobile an indispensable part of the American way of life, but the auto industry also is the mainstay of the national economy.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

I received a notice from a press agent firm that the First Commercial Bank of Chicago has instituted a "Teen Age Loan Fund" by which a kid can borrow money from a bank without going to his parents for the cash. This is another example of the breakdown of the home, of parental authority. It turns the adolescent into a big shot. I can imagine this conversation:

"Father: What do you want $35 for? Do you think money grows on trees?

Son: Aw, stop nagging. I need the dough.

Father: What for? How is it you spend every cent of your allowance? How is it that you can't save a nickel a week?

Son: Saving is old-fashioned. What's the good of saving? You saved all your life and what've you got? You're always worried about money and nag if anybody asks you for a buck.

Father: You've never wanted for anything people like us can afford.

Son: That's just it. I can't afford a lot of things. Give me that $35 and I'll do some big time on Friday night when the boys go out. I'll pick up the tab for a change."

Now, that son does not need to plead with his father or submit to family discipline. He can be a big shot by borrowing from the bank on his own signature which is make-believe anyhow as it can have no legal validity. Read this stuff and think of the moral values involved:

"To be considered for a loan, the student must fill in an application form, stating why he needs the money and how he proposes to pay it back. If the board decides the purpose of the loan is a good one and that the student is a good risk, then the loan is granted and a check issued. Only 3 percent interest, considerably lower than regular bank rates, is charged so that the youngster learns that banks do not give away money, that it does cost something to borrow.

(I can borrow money to pay my income taxes at between three and four percent.)

"A part-time job is required before a teen-ager is given a loan. This requirement was established by the board of directors, not by the bank. 'We can't count on kids to pay back just out of their allowances,' they reasoned. 'Suppose their folks get mad at them and cut off their allowances. Then where would we be?' However, any part-time work, even baby sitting, qualifies an applicant as being employed, so this is rarely a problem when the applicant is sincere."

Imagine a bank lending money to a minor whose father has cut off his allowance as a disciplinary measure!

The gimmick in this is that if the teenager does not repay the loan plus the three percent, papa must pay anyhow. The law does not recognize the financial and contractual independence of a minor and the parent can be held responsible for the contracted debt. So that all that this scheme can accomplish is to increase the disrespect of the child for the parent without minimizing the parent's responsibility.

It is very much like those school teachers who set themselves up as superior to parents because they lack the intellectual qualifications, documents, diplomas and Phi Beta Kappa keys, only to discover that it is just as easy or easier for a fresh kid to show disrespect for a teacher as for a parent. The principal cause for juvenile delinquency, or other misbehaviors, is disrespect.

Most colleges have loan bureaus to help students on the way but they do not make a commercial business of it. They know what they are doing because they know the student. They also do not create a market for such loans. And they do not encourage disrespect for parents as the circular from which I quote does.

The error in this bank's idea is that the parent is the one who should provide for his own child, even if he has to borrow to do it. The parent should discipline the child as the parent is solely responsible for the child.

PLANNING FOR HARVEST

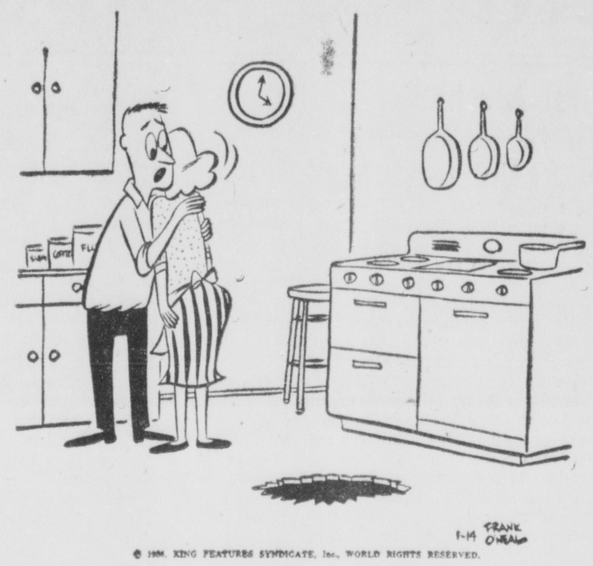

SOIL BANKS, acreage allotments, price supports, commodity surpluses, full and flexible parities—all of these terms are being given a ride in what is commonly termed the government's "farm program."

The administration is now officially committed to a soil bank program, under which 20 per cent of crop acreage would be taken out of production and checks mailed to the owners for not farming it. The estimated cost: $1 billion a year.

But the Democrats are in control of Congress, and other proposals are almost certain to be incorporated in any legislation that is passed. From the sidelines it appears as if the main crop being cultivated by both political parties is in fields that are expected to ripen on election day.

Some of the lame ducks are limping into higher paying government jobs than they had.

Driving Can Be Risky If You Are Very Upset

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

HUMAN failure rather than mechanical failure is the prime cause of auto accidents. No matter how well you may be able to handle a car, you are not a good driver unless you are always alert to what you are doing while at the wheel.

Daydreaming, emotional stress, inability to make immediate decisions, these are only a few of the conditions which can turn a potentially good driver into a real road hazard.

Tremendous Force

Most important, you've got to realize what tremendous force you have at your disposal.

Even at the normal driving speed of 25 miles an hour, it will take a car, under ordinary conditions, 46.9 feet to stop after the brakes have been applied. But your car will travel an additional 27 feet during the three-quarters of a second it takes you to touch the brake pedal after recognizing a signal to stop.

Lapse of Time

If you're tired, listening intently to the car radio, carrying on a conversation, or if you have been drinking liquor, the lapse of time and distance will be even greater.

An auto frequently becomes a symbol or an extension of the owner's ego. For that reason, don't slam out of the house and into your car right after an argument with your spouse.

You're apt to seek vengeance by bullying your way through traffic. It's a juvenile thing to do, of course. But even worse, it may be a deadly thing to do.

Driving Manners

Feelings of resentment also may capture the driving manners of a henpecked husband or a too-obedient child. For these persons, especially, a gas pedal may be an exhilarator rather than an accelerator. A speeding auto gives them a sense of importance and power they do not otherwise possess.

Persons afflicted with various diseases should not drive, at least not without getting an okay from their personal physician. Some cardiovascular disabilities may interfere with driving ability. Among them are essential hypertension, carotid sinus hypersensitivity and severe angina pectoris. If you have a heart disease, you must learn the symptoms of a pending attack.

Try, Stop Me

How did Barnum and his lesser-known partner, Bailey, first meet? Well, one of many stories has it that Bailey found a great drawing card for his 1880 tour when one of his elephants, named Hebe, became a mother. Advertising the baby elephant as "the first pachyderm ever born in captivity," Bailey attracted such business and Barnum offered a hundred thousand dollars for the two animals. Bailey not only said "nothing doing" but reproduced Barnum's offer on huge posters in every town on his itinerary.

"That's a man I want on my side," declared the appreciative Barnum—and in 1881, Barnum and Bailey's first combined "Greatest Show on Earth" made its tour.

The spoiled son of a multimillionaire was mightily upset when the girl he adored refused to marry him. So he climbed into his imported automobile and said to the chauffeur, "Drive off a bridge. I'm committing suicide."

SYNOPSIS

Linda Thornton's strongest memories date from her tenth wedding anniversary, an occasion for her being made sharply aware of the disappointment felt by her husband's family over her failure to produce an heir. The Thorntons—old Jasper, his wife Seretha (Ma'am)—and their clan are the most influential people in Valhalla, Mo. All their hopes are centered in their son Alan, Linda's husband, who is surgeon-in-charge at the Thornton-built hospital in Valhalla. The other Thornton son, John, left home and is seldom mentioned. A widowed daughter, Margaret, has a son, Silas—an Army flier—and young twins, Jim and Ann. Seretha's brother, old Uncle Arthur Merritt, and his silly wife, Aunt Flora, also live at the Thornton farm—Fiddlers Green.

Seretha plans a dinner party for the anniversary and, unhappy about not having a child—nor a husband for much of the time due to his hospital duties—Linda asks herself, Why celebrate a marriage like that?

CHAPTER TWO

PAD AND pencil at hand, Linda ate her breakfast and talked to the cook. This done, she moved on to other tasks. This was the day, Saturday, to arrange new flowers throughout the house.

"I had to git the glads and some fern from the city, Miss Linda," the gardener told her, his eyes apologetic. "Please don't tell Ma'am. She expects so much. . . ."

Linda reassured the old fellow. He kept the grounds and the little greenhouse beautifully; if Ma'am expected more, it was too much. Linda took a flat basket of flowers back to the house, to the dining room where the banquet top had already been placed upon the table, and Jacob waited on her decision as to the cloth and china which she wanted used. He too spoke to her as "Miss Linda." She was never called Mrs. Thornton, even downtown. Mrs. Alan sometimes, but more often Miss Linda. Seretha was Mrs. Thornton.

Well, what matter? She helped the butler spread the satiny cloth, then asked for paper and towels to protect it while arranging the flowers. She glanced, questioningly, up at Jacob. He nodded. "You got a hand, Miss Linda," he said approvingly. Pleasure flushed into her cheeks, and sparkled in her eyes.

Then she caught the way Jacob's hand stilled even before she realized that the soft murmur of voices from the breakfast room had risen to the sharpness of charge and countercharge.

"Oh, dear," she breathed.

"I'll keery it out, Miss Linda," Jacob offered discreetly.

"Thank you, Jacob." One could not discuss the family and its affairs with the servants, even with a boy who'd been born and raised on the place.

Linda turned, crossed the small passage and went into the pleasant breakfast room. Aunt Flora and Uncle Arthur sat at the corner of the table, their whole attention upon the quarrel which was mounting into a furious frenzy. Poor, fat, foolish Aunt Flora—poor, thin and equally foolish Uncle Arthur. As correct and precise in his neat tan suit, starched white collar and baby-pink skin as Aunt Flora was fussy in her negligee and lacy cap, her beads and her twinkly rings.

Linda stood unnoticed in the doorway, looking in on the room.

Aunt Flora was complaining, tearfully, about her husband's attentions to Miss Little Mae Honeycutt.

Miss Little Mae had been Mrs. Liddell for forty years, and widowed for ten, but she still was called by her girlhood name. She had been a great belle, and was still a pretty little old woman.

"She always was silly!" declared Aunt Flora, sniffling, "and you never could see it! I recall so well the time she chose to attract attention by ridin' an unbroke horse side-saddle. All swishy skirts an' petticoats. The animal reared, and she went down—with you men most concerned! She came out, of course, bein' not ready yet to die—and she wasn't hurt beside! I remember so well how you left me sittin' lone in the democrat and made over her. . . ."

Uncle Arthur murmured something about that being fifty years ago, and this dissolved Aunt Flora into tears. "Don't weep, Flora," he begged. "That's all done and gone."

"It's not, though," claimed Aunt Flora in a suffocated voice. "Just yesterday—I saw you pat her hand, and bend your back and scrape your feet. . . ."

"Oh, for the good Lord's sake, Flora!" cried her exasperated husband. "That was jest manners, and you know it! I'm too old for it to be anything else! And you're too old to think so. I can't get into trouble with a woman, and just as certainly you're not in danger from any man!"

To announce her immunity from amorous involvements was the unforgivable sin with Aunt Flora. She rose, weeping, from the table, and stumbled toward the door; defiantly, Uncle Arthur said no word to detain her.

Her arm comfortingly circling her shoulders, Linda led the old lady to the little morning room.

"Don't you ever trust any man, Linda!" sobbed Aunt Flora, sinking into the depths of an armchair.

The morning went swiftly, crowded with innumerable household tasks. Toward noon, Jacob came to the kitchen to tell Miss Linda that Dr. Alan was on the phone. Linda looked up, smiling radiantly, and the Negro smiled too, happy in her pleasure.

Ruby and Jacob watched the swift manner of her going. "She sure love her man," said Jacob contentedly.

"Ev'body love Dr. Alan."

"Ev'body ain' his wife," Jacob pointed out.

"What an arrangement that would be!" laughed Ruby.

Linda spoke softly into the phone, and leaned back, smiling, pleased to hear her husband's firm voice. He talked exactly like his father—Alan was like Jasper!

Her smile trembled in Linda's voice as she answered his inquiry as to how she was, and was she busy?

"What's funny?" he asked.

"Nothing really." But she told him, quickly, of the jealous quarrel between the old folks.

"They haven't heard then of Miss Little Mae's accident?"

"Oh, dear no. Did she have one?"

"Yes. She was brought in this morning, about eight. I'm afraid her hip is fractured."

"I'm so glad you are there to take care of her," Linda told him.

"Thank you, darling, but she's more likely to be Ernst's patient. I have to go to Kennerly. That's why I called you. I'm starting in ten minutes, I hope."

"But, Alan!" Kennerly was seventy-five miles from Valhalla. And if he was going to operate there—

"Yes, dear," he agreed to all the things he knew had come into her mind. "I am afraid I shall be late for dinner. I'm terribly sorry to do this, Linda, but—"

"Don't worry about me! I feel sure I can celebrate even a wedding anniversary alone. But your mother, Alan—"

"Ma'am won't like it," he agreed, his dry tone indicating to what extent Seretha disliked any disruption in her plans.

"Can't they get someone else, Alan? Kennerly is nearly a hundred miles away—"

"It's seventy-five—and they do have a surgeon, Linda. He called me. But this case—she can't be moved. I'm closer than any city doctor. It's a young woman, dear. Hurt in a head-on auto crash. Cochran says it's the worst he's ever seen—her diaphragm is ruptured, with the spleen, liver and intestine pushed through—and the lung collapsed. She—I have to try to correct all that I can, dear. She—she's pregnant besides."

Oh, dear! "But can you. . . .?"

"I don't know. I'm going to try. If they could find another surgeon closer, I reckon they would have him by now. I'm sorry, darling."

"Of course you must go," she agreed quickly. Then in an effort to send him off on as pleasant a note as possible: "But don't pretend, young man, that you are sorry to leave me. I know your real love!"

Alan chuckled. "You do, eh? Red-headed, isn't she?"

"All colors. Assorted. Patients come that way."

"I'll grant the assortment," he told his wife. "But I'll argue the identity of your rival. I'm only sorry for my patients, dear Linda; it's their ailments that I love!"

She laughed, "I can't see that it makes much difference. . . . Oh! I want to ask about the Medley boy."

She sensed the quickening of his interest. "Yes!", he said eagerly. "We had a confirmation this morning! Definitely sickel-cell, Linda. I did right, too, in beginning transfusions."

"You always do right where your patients are concerned." She would have qualified the faintly bitter statement, but Alan spoke to someone at the hospital, and did not comment or answer Linda. When he began to talk to her again, it was to say sadly that things were bad for the six-year-old Negro child. "What shall I do, Linda? Tell his mother that Oscar can't live—that he'll surely die before he is ten, probably sooner?"

"Oh, no!" Her protest was richly compassionate. "Let her hope, Alan! If a woman can't hope, she has nothing."

She felt his sigh against her eardrum. "Thank you, Linda," he said gravely. "I'll take your advice. Your understanding surpasses. . . . or is it aboundeth? Anyway, it does! Good-by, dear."

Linda put the phone down, a little smile tucked into the corners of her soft lips. Indeed his real love was his profession. That he let Linda share in that love made the real intimacy of their marriage. She should be content. . . .

VA IS ADAMANT

THE VETERANS Administration has announced its opposition to Hoover Commission proposals to revamp the nation's programs for aiding and caring for former servicemen.

This was to be expected because the VA bureaucrats have a vested interest in preventing any limitation of their activities. But VA officials also believe they have the interests of veterans at heart and see the Hoover recommendations as striking at those interests without justification.

There is this to be said: Efficiency and reform are to be supported in any field, even the VA, but only as long as the basic obligations of the nation to veterans are not compromised.

It is certain that there is no point in hospitals standing vacant. The Hoover group found three service and VA hospitals in New York City, each only partly-filled. It recommended closing one and using the other two to full capacity to save operating costs.

However, any limitation on veterans benefits—such as free hospital care for non-service-connected disability — is unlikely to get much support in Congress. The veterans' lobbies are strong and Congress is very sensitive to pressure from a group of citizens that numbers in the millions.

THE REAL REASON

REAL REASON why the "revenooers" have given in and issued an announcement through the Internal Revenue Service that aid will be extended to those needing it in filling out their income tax returns is now apparent. The tax auditors are reported to have had such difficulty unraveling the arithmetic of those who formerly asked assistance that they felt time would be saved by having government experts do it before the filing.

Whatever the reason, the government's tax army is now engaged in offering help to harried taxpayers who desire to have this annual chore over with early this year. T. Coleman Andrews, former Internal Revenue Commissioner who departed from Washington, announced the plan to extend no more aid to taxpayers. His successor then reversed his action.

Pressure from the public to resume the old practice of assisting those who had trouble in making sense out of income tax form gobblydegook was immediate and impressive. Perhaps it came from persons who felt there was some solace in having company while being bled white. Or perhaps having someone to grip to personally helped ease the pain.

UN AND RED CHINA

A PROPOSAL IS reported to be gaining headway to hold the next general assembly of the United Nations in November, after the U. S. presidential election. There is also sentiment to have the assembly meet outside the U. S., probably in Rome.

There is no mystery about the reason for proposing an assembly date after the presidential election. A principal issue of the next session is expected to be admission of Red China to the UN. This is opposed by a large majority of the American people, and officially by Washington. But there is rising sentiment among this country's allies to recognize the reds.

But neither party wants to see such an issue debated in the U. S. during the presidential campaign.

The proposal to hold the next session outside of the United States is based on similar grounds. Those who advance the suggestion do so on the premise that the American people would be less interested in what transpires if the dirty work is done outside of this country.

Try, Stop Me

How did Barnum and his lesser-known partner, Bailey, first meet? Well, one of many stories has it that Bailey found a great drawing card for his 1880 tour when one of his elephants, named Hebe, became a mother. Advertising the baby elephant as "the first pachyderm ever born in captivity," Bailey attracted such business and Barnum offered a hundred thousand dollars for the two animals. Bailey not only said "nothing doing" but reproduced Barnum's offer on huge posters in every town on his itinerary.

"That's a man I want on my side," declared the appreciative Barnum—and in 1881, Barnum and Bailey's first combined "Greatest Show on Earth" made its tour.

The spoiled son of a multimillionaire was mightily upset when the girl he adored refused to marry him. So he climbed into his imported automobile and said to the chauffeur, "Drive off a bridge. I'm committing suicide."

SYNOPSIS

Linda Thornton's strongest memories date from her tenth wedding anniversary, an occasion for her being made sharply aware of the disappointment felt by her husband's family over her failure to produce an heir. The Thorntons—old Jasper, his wife Seretha (Ma'am)—and their clan are the most influential people in Valhalla, Mo. All their hopes are centered in their son Alan, Linda's husband, who is surgeon-in-charge at the Thornton-built hospital in Valhalla. The other Thornton son, John, left home and is seldom mentioned. A widowed daughter, Margaret, has a son, Silas—an Army flier—and young twins, Jim and Ann. Seretha's brother, old Uncle Arthur Merritt, and his silly wife, Aunt Flora, also live at the Thornton farm—Fiddlers Green.

Seretha plans a dinner party for the anniversary and, unhappy about not having a child—nor a husband for much of the time due to his hospital duties—Linda asks herself, Why celebrate a marriage like that?

CHAPTER TWO

PAD AND pencil at hand, Linda ate her breakfast and talked to the cook. This done, she moved on to other tasks. This was the day, Saturday, to arrange new flowers throughout the house.

"I had to git the glads and some fern from the city, Miss Linda," the gardener told her, his eyes apologetic. "Please don't tell Ma'am. She expects so much. . . ."

Linda reassured the old fellow. He kept the grounds and the little greenhouse beautifully; if Ma'am expected more, it was too much. Linda took a flat basket of flowers back to the house, to the dining room where the banquet top had already been placed upon the table, and Jacob waited on her decision as to the cloth and china which she wanted used. He too spoke to her as "Miss Linda." She was never called Mrs. Thornton, even downtown. Mrs. Alan sometimes, but more often Miss Linda. Seretha was Mrs. Thornton.

Well, what matter? She helped the butler spread the satiny cloth, then asked for paper and towels to protect it while arranging the flowers. She glanced, questioningly, up at Jacob. He nodded. "You got a hand, Miss Linda," he said approvingly. Pleasure flushed into her cheeks, and sparkled in her eyes.

Then she caught the way Jacob's hand stilled even before she realized that the soft murmur of voices from the breakfast room had risen to the sharpness of charge and countercharge.

"Oh, dear," she breathed.

"I'll keery it out, Miss Linda," Jacob offered discreetly.

"Thank you, Jacob." One could not discuss the family and its affairs with the servants, even with a boy who'd been born and raised on the place.

Linda turned, crossed the small passage and went into the pleasant breakfast room. Aunt Flora and Uncle Arthur sat at the corner of the table, their whole attention upon the quarrel which was mounting into a furious frenzy. Poor, fat, foolish Aunt Flora—poor, thin and equally foolish Uncle Arthur. As correct and precise in his neat tan suit, starched white collar and baby-pink skin as Aunt Flora was fussy in her negligee and lacy cap, her beads and her twinkly rings.

Linda stood unnoticed in the doorway, looking in on the room.

Aunt Flora was complaining, tearfully, about her husband's attentions to Miss Little Mae Honeycutt.

Miss Little Mae had been Mrs. Liddell for forty years, and widowed for ten, but she still was called by her girlhood name. She had been a great belle, and was still a pretty little old woman.

"She always was silly!" declared Aunt Flora, sniffling, "and you never could see it! I recall so well the time she chose to attract attention by ridin' an unbroke horse side-saddle. All swishy skirts an' petticoats. The animal reared, and she went down—with you men most concerned! She came out, of course, bein' not ready yet to die—and she wasn't hurt beside! I remember so well how you left me sittin' lone in the democrat and made over her. . . ."

Uncle Arthur murmured something about that being fifty years ago, and this dissolved Aunt Flora into tears. "Don't weep, Flora," he begged. "That's all done and gone."

"It's not, though," claimed Aunt Flora in a suffocated voice. "Just yesterday—I saw you pat her hand, and bend your back and scrape your feet. . . ."

"Oh, for the good Lord's sake, Flora!" cried her exasperated husband. "That was jest manners, and you know it! I'm too old for it to be anything else! And you're too old to think so. I can't get into trouble with a woman, and just as certainly you're not in danger from any man!"

To announce her immunity from amorous involvements was the unforgivable sin with Aunt Flora. She rose, weeping, from the table, and stumbled toward the door; defiantly, Uncle Arthur said no word to detain her.

Her arm comfortingly circling her shoulders, Linda led the old lady to the little morning room.

"Don't you ever trust any man, Linda!" sobbed Aunt Flora, sinking into the depths of an armchair.

The morning went swiftly, crowded with innumerable household tasks. Toward noon, Jacob came to the kitchen to tell Miss Linda that Dr. Alan was on the phone. Linda looked up, smiling radiantly, and the Negro smiled too, happy in her pleasure.

Ruby and Jacob watched the swift manner of her going. "She sure love her man," said Jacob contentedly.

"Ev'body love Dr. Alan."

"Ev'body ain' his wife," Jacob pointed out.

"What an arrangement that would be!" laughed Ruby.

Linda spoke softly into the phone, and leaned back, smiling, pleased to hear her husband's firm voice. He talked exactly like his father—Alan was like Jasper!

Her smile trembled in Linda's voice as she answered his inquiry as to how she was, and was she busy?

"What's funny?" he asked.

"Nothing really." But she told him, quickly, of the jealous quarrel between the old folks.

"They haven't heard then of Miss Little Mae's accident?"

"Oh, dear no. Did she have one?"

"Yes. She was brought in this morning, about eight. I'm afraid her hip is fractured."

"I'm so glad you are there to take care of her," Linda told him.

"Thank you, darling, but she's more likely to be Ernst's patient. I have to go to Kennerly. That's why I called you. I'm starting in ten minutes, I hope."

"But, Alan!" Kennerly was seventy-five miles from Valhalla. And if he was going to operate there—

"Yes, dear," he agreed to all the things he knew had come into her mind. "I am afraid I shall be late for dinner. I'm terribly sorry to do this, Linda, but—"

"Don't worry about me! I feel sure I can celebrate even a wedding anniversary alone. But your mother, Alan—"

"Ma'am won't like it," he agreed, his dry tone indicating to what extent Seretha disliked any disruption in her plans.

"Can't they get someone else, Alan? Kennerly is nearly a hundred miles away—"

"It's seventy-five—and they do have a surgeon, Linda. He called me. But this case—she can't be moved. I'm closer than any city doctor. It's a young woman, dear. Hurt in a head-on auto crash. Cochran says it's the worst he's ever seen—her diaphragm is ruptured, with the spleen, liver and intestine pushed through—and the lung collapsed. She—I have to try to correct all that I can, dear. She—she's pregnant besides."

Oh, dear! "But can you. . . .?"

"I don't know. I'm going to try. If they could find another surgeon closer, I reckon they would have him by now. I'm sorry, darling."

"Of course you must go," she agreed quickly. Then in an effort to send him off on as pleasant a note as possible: "But don't pretend, young man, that you are sorry to leave me. I know your real love!"

Alan chuckled. "You do, eh? Red-headed, isn't she?"

"All colors. Assorted. Patients come that way."

"I'll grant the assortment," he told his wife. "But I'll argue the identity of your rival. I'm only sorry for my patients, dear Linda, it's their ailments that I love!"

She laughed, "I can't see that it makes much difference. . . . Oh! I want to ask about the Medley boy."

She sensed the quickening of his interest. "Yes!", he said eagerly. "We had a confirmation this morning! Definitely sickel-cell, Linda. I did right, too, in beginning transfusions."

"You always do right where your patients are concerned." She would have qualified the faintly bitter statement, but Alan spoke to someone at the hospital, and did not comment or answer Linda. When he began to talk to her again, it was to say sadly that things were bad for the six-year-old Negro child. "What shall I do, Linda? Tell his mother that Oscar can't live—that he'll surely die before he is ten, probably sooner?"

"Oh, no!" Her protest was richly compassionate. "Let her hope, Alan! If a woman can't hope, she has nothing."

She felt his sigh against her eardrum. "Thank you, Linda," he said gravely. "I'll take your advice. Your understanding surpasses. . . . or is it aboundeth? Anyway, it does! Good-by, dear."

Linda put the phone down, a little smile tucked into the corners of her soft lips. Indeed his real love was his profession. That he let Linda share in that love made the real intimacy of their marriage. She should be content. . . .

Middies Eye Test Against Columbus East

COLUMBUS (AP) — Middletown's Middies, Ohio's basketball darlings in the latest Associated Press high school poll, will be put to the test again tonight following a smashing 79-64 triumph over Springfield last night.

Top-ranked Middletown plays host to Columbus East, voted to the second spot along with Hamilton. East was idle last night.

The Big Blue of Hamilton stopped Mansfield 64-57 but ninth-ranked Alliance as beaten by Canton South, tied for seventh with Newark, by a 53-43 count. Newark routed Chillicothe 64-44 and all other clubs in the top 10 checked in with victories.

Canton Timken (No. 4) defeated Canton Lehman 76-53; Gallipolis, (No. 5) topped Jackson 48-43, and Portsmouth (No. 6) clipped Lima 75-56.

East Liverpool (No. 10) ran roughshod over Toronto 98-48.

Other games tonight involving top 10 teams have Hamilton playing at Cincinnati Western, Canton South at Youngstown Ursuline and Alliance at Youngstown South.

Broncos Chalk Up 12th Win By 73 To 58

Ashville's Broncos ran their season's winning streak to 12 straight with a convincing non-league victory over Hamilton Township Friday night, 73-58.

Playing at home, the Broncos had five players, led by Jerry Riegel who hit for 18 points, score in double figures.

Ashville's win actually came via the foul lane since both teams connected on 22 baskets.

The Broncos tallied 29 times in 42 charity attempts while Hamilton rippled the nets 14 times in 25 foul tries.

* * *

ASHVILLE built up a big first period 21-7 lead which was lengthened to 39-18 at half-time. The Broncos then coasted in with the victory to maintain its unbeaten streak.

Sharon led Hamilton's basketeers, everyone of which scored, with 12 points.

Ashville's reserves got back on the winning track with an easy 42-23 triumph over Hamilton's seconds.

Dramatic Climax Gives Monroe Thrilling Victory Over Darby

Monroe's county league title hopes were almost dashed against the hard rocks of defeat Friday night when the Indians battled Coach Bill Arnett's fired up Darby Trojans.

With three seconds remaining and the Monroe score board showing Darby 65, Monroe 64, Tom Finch stepped to the foul line and made good his first charity attempt to knot the score at 65.

While fans held their breath and Coach Bill Wolfe closed his eyes, he fired his second shot which rippled through the nets for the deciding marker, giving Monroe its seventh consecutive win.

Monroe's Indians piled up a tremendous 26-11 first period lead but found the Trojans close on their heels at intermission when the count stood at 38-34.

* * *

COACH ARNETT'S hoopsters whipped 19 more points in the third period to take the lead as Monroe could manage to find the range for only seven.

Behind 53-45, at the end of the third frame, the Indians made a rousing comback to win the hectic contest before their screaming home floor fans.

The Indians continue to share second place with Jackson who holds an identical 6-1 league record. Monroe has lost only one game in 12 starts this season.

Darby stands at 3-4 in the league and 6-8 for the season. The Trojans were playing without one of their high-scoring starters, Jay Hill.

Monroe's Stan Jones and Darby's Norm Puckett share scoring honors for the night as each found the range for 23 points. Both teams had four players score in double figures.

A close reserve contest was taken by Monroe, 33-31.

Pirates Beat Back Rally To Win 62-57

Coach Bill Barnetson's Pickaway Pirates, playing their best game of the year, Friday night broke loose for a 62-57 county league basketball victory over New Holland.

Paced by Neil Echard and Herb Miller, the Pirates built up a 37-28 intermission lead which they stretched to 55-43 at the third quarter mark.

At this point, the Bulldogs put on one of their big rallies and came within five points of catching the Pirates, but Pickaway held on to snap a three-game league losing streak.

Echard took scoring honors for the night with 22 tallies while teammate Miller tossed in 21 points.

Glen Large led the Bulldogs in scoring with 16 markers and his teammates John Lininger and Gary Montieth meshed the nets for 12 points each.

Pickaway's win was its third in seven league outings and fifth in all games. New Holland's league slate now is 3-4 and the Bulldogs are all even for the season with a 6-6 record.

New Holland's unbeaten reserves ran their victory string to 12 straight by downing the Pirate seconds, 40-31.

Jackson 'Cats Regain Form In 71-52 Win

Jackson, showing some of its early season winning form, had little difficulty in winning over Walnut's hard-luck Tigers, 71-52, in a county league hardcourt battle fought Friday night at Jackson.

The Wildcats piled up a big lead which was never threatened to bring back their sixth league victory in seven starts.

Four Wildcats scored in double figures, paced by Loren Alexander's 21, and Don Smith's 20 points. It was the first time in four games that anyone on the Jackson quintet hit for 20 points.

High man was Walnut was Don Hurley, who tallied 14 points. His teammate, Bill Smith, chipped in with 13 markers.

* * *

THE LOSS was Walnut's sixth in eight league encounters and ninth in 11 games for the season.

Jackson, who continues to cling to second place with Monroe in the league, has an overall mark of 9-4.

Jackson took the reserve contest to make the evening complete with a convincing 54-39 decision over Walnut's seconds. Walnut's Edwards ripped the cords for 27 points.

Lightburn Gains Decision In Bout

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Ludwig Lightburn, a lanky boxer from British Honduras, shrugged off a cut inside his left eyelid last night and went on to win a split decision from Joey Lopes of Sacramento, Calif.

Lightburn, ranked seventh, weighed 139¼ for his 10-round nationally televised bout against the 10th-ranking man in his division. Lopes weighed 137½.

Still bouncy after the fight, Lightburn said his best blows landed on Lopes' body. Lopes, sucking on a chunk of ice in his dressing room, thought the winner did the most damage with a right uppercut to the chin.

Pirates Beat Back Rally To Win 62-57

Coach Bill Barnetson's Pickaway Pirates, playing their best game of the year, Friday night broke loose for a 62-57 county league basketball victory over New Holland.

Paced by Neil Echard and Herb Miller, the Pirates built up a 37-28 intermission lead which they stretched to 55-43 at the third quarter mark.

At this point, the Bulldogs put on one of their big rallies and came within five points of catching the Pirates, but Pickaway held on to snap a three-game league losing streak.

Echard took scoring honors for the night with 22 tallies while teammate Miller tossed in 21 points.

Glen Large led the Bulldogs in scoring with 16 markers and his teammates John Lininger and Gary Montieth meshed the nets for 12 points each.

Pickaway's win was its third in seven league outings and fifth in all games. New Holland's league slate now is 3-4 and the Bulldogs are all even for the season with a 6-6 record.

New Holland's unbeaten reserves ran their victory string to 12 straight by downing the Pirate seconds, 40-31.

Dramatic Climax Gives Monroe Thrilling Victory Over Darby

Monroe's county league title hopes were almost dashed against the hard rocks of defeat Friday night when the Indians battled Coach Bill Arnett's fired up Darby Trojans.

With three seconds remaining and the Monroe score board showing Darby 65, Monroe 64, Tom Finch stepped to the foul line and made good his first charity attempt to knot the score at 65.

While fans held their breath and Coach Bill Wolfe closed his eyes, he fired his second shot which rippled through the nets for the deciding marker, giving Monroe its seventh consecutive win.

Monroe's Indians piled up a tremendous 26-11 first period lead but found the Trojans close on their heels at intermission when the count stood at 38-34.

* * *

COACH ARNETT'S hoopsters whipped 19 more points in the third period to take the lead as Monroe could manage to find the range for only seven.

Behind 53-45, at the end of the third frame, the Indians made a rousing comback to win the hectic contest before their screaming home floor fans.

The Indians continue to share second place with Jackson who holds an identical 6-1 league record. Monroe has lost only one game in 12 starts this season.

Darby stands at 3-4 in the league and 6-8 for the season. The Trojans were playing without one of their high-scoring starters, Jay Hill.

Monroe's Stan Jones and Darby's Norm Puckett share scoring honors for the night as each found the range for 23 points. Both teams had four players score in double figures.

A close reserve contest was taken by Monroe, 33-31.

Jackson 'Cats Regain Form In 71-52 Win

Jackson, showing some of its early season winning form, had little difficulty in winning over Walnut's hard-luck Tigers, 71-52, in a county league hardcourt battle fought Friday night at Jackson.

The Wildcats piled up a big lead which was never threatened to bring back their sixth league victory in seven starts.

Four Wildcats scored in double figures, paced by Loren Alexander's 21, and Don Smith's 20 points. It was the first time in four games that anyone on the Jackson quintet hit for 20 points.

High man was Walnut was Don Hurley, who tallied 14 points. His teammate, Bill Smith, chipped in with 13 markers.

* * *

THE LOSS was Walnut's sixth in eight league encounters and ninth in 11 games for the season.

Jackson, who continues to cling to second place with Monroe in the league, has an overall mark of 9-4.

Jackson took the reserve contest to make the evening complete with a convincing 54-39 decision over Walnut's seconds. Walnut's Edwards ripped the cords for 27 points.

Lightburn Gains Decision In Bout

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Ludwig Lightburn, a lanky boxer from British Honduras, shrugged off a cut inside his left eyelid last night and went on to win a split decision from Joey Lopes of Sacramento, Calif.

Lightburn, ranked seventh, weighed 139¼ for his 10-round nationally televised bout against the 10th-ranking man in his division. Lopes weighed 137½.

Still bouncy after the fight, Lightburn said his best blows landed on Lopes' body. Lopes, sucking on a chunk of ice in his dressing room, thought the winner did the most damage with a right uppercut to the chin.

Tigers Outlast Wilmington 73-68 In Hectic SCOL Tilt

Wilmington's Hurricanes came roaring into Circleville's E. Mill St. gym Friday night, but when the smoke of battle cleared, Wilmington's varsity and reserve squads breezed out with shattered league records.

In a fast, wild varsity encounter, the Tigers outlasted the Hurricanes, 73-68, to hand the Wilmington cagers their first league loss in four outings.

In a hectic uphill struglge, Circleville's seconds ran their victory string to seven straight while knocking off Wilmington's reserves, 47-44 for their first loss in league competition.

Featuring flashes of good, but mostly ragged defense, and racehorse style basketball, the varsity contest left the more than 700 frenzied fans limp with excitement.

THE TIGERS took the opening quarter lead and held it until, with 3:40 to go in the second quarter, Earley knotted the count at 28-all.

Earley's foul shot gave the Hurricane squad its first lead in the game with 3:30 to go in this period. A foul shot by Kersey, a basket by Roberts and two foul shots by Fields gave Wilmington a 34-28 advantage.

Jones finally broke the ice for the Tigers with a basket but Roberts made two more points for the Hurricanes to up the count to 36-30.

With the score standing at 37-30, the Tigers came clawing back to score eight points with Callihan, who sparked for Circleville, making the basket which gave the Tigers a 38-37 lead.

The lead changed hands again when Carey meshed the nets for two points but Bobby Wellington fired a long one to regain the advantage for Circleville.

FIELDS stripped the nets with a shot from mid-floor to give Wilmington a 41-40 lead but Walt Sieverts hit for a basket with the seconds running out to give Circleville a 42-41 intermission lead.

Circleville dominated the third quarter completely by scorching the nets for 21 points while Wilmington could manage only three tallies. Sieverts played his best eight minutes in this quarter as he grabbed many rebounds to help stifle the Hurricanes' offense.

Wilmington began the fourth quarter by scoring six foul shots and then a bucket by Earley brought the score to 63-52. Circleville finally found the range when McConnell hit for a bucket.

Earley, who played a standout game for Wilmington, cashed in on another bucket which was matched by a basket by Callihan. Sieverts then tallied to make the score 69-54.

WILMINGTON hit for ten consecutive points to make it 69-64 but McConnell made two to up the count to 71-64. His bucket was matched by Callihan, and Roberts tallied in the closing seconds to end the game.

Both teams played a wide open game with Circleville sparked by Callihan and Wellington, showing the way.

Jim McConnell took scoring honors with 18 points and grabbed many rebounds while Earley led Wilmington's offense with 16 counters.

Circleville had to fight hard to take the reserve contest. Led by Hosler, who scored 18 points and Parcher who netted 16, the Tigers were able to hand Wilmington's seconds their first reserve loss in league competition.

Outstanding player on the floor was Wilmington's Bashore who tallied 21 points and who was a mountain of strength in the rebounding department.

CIRCLEVILLE was behind the entire first half and finally tied the score at 27-all in the second canto. However, Wilmington quickly whipped away and held as much as a seven point lead. With 3:30 to go in the fourth period, Circleville took the lead for the first time, 45-44, on a bucket by Hosler. Wilmington wasn't able to score again and Circleville kept its unbeaten record intact.

Dons Sparkle In Matching Win Record

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Dons did it. And they did it big.

Top-ranked San Francisco, the best college team in a long, long time, breezed past Fresno State 69-50 Friday night to match the all-time major college consecutive victory record of 39 games.

Now the Dons have a two-week vacation before making a bid against California Jan. 28 to become the winningest team ever.

Long Island University set the record 19 years ago, rolling along unbeaten from the 1935 season until knocked off by Stanford two years later. Seton Hall is the only other major club to win 39 in a row. The Pirates did it in 1939-41 with LIU finally stopping them.

All-America Bill Russell, the Dons' 6-10 ace, topped the scoring against Fresno State with 22 points, stowing little effects of a cold that put him in bed Thursday. Russell also cleared 17 rebounds although playing less than half the game as Coach Phil Woolpert substituted freely and used his entire 15-man traveling squad.

Elsewhere, it was a night of upsets, big scares and heavy use of the controversial zone defense.

North Carolina, ranked No. 9, got 30 points from Lennie Rosenbluth and needed 'em all after blowing a 16-point halftime lead to outlast South Carolina 75-73 and gain a share of the Atlantic Coast Conference lead with Duke.

Virginia Tech, a real sleeper with a 5-5 mark, upended 14th-ranked George Washington 63-61 as Bill Matthews hit 21 points and tapped in a closing-second field goal. Tech hit an amazing 60 per cent of its field shots, but trailed in field goals 24-23.

West Virginia, despite Hot Rod Hundle's 28 points, just did get past Penn State 81-79.

In the Ivy League, Harvard stunned Penn 86-78 as Ike Canty canned 26 points and Phil Haughey 25 to outweight the 31 Joe Sturgis hit for Penn.

La Salle, using a second half zone, rallied to defeat Syracuse 71-64 and little St. Joseph's, Pa. upset Manhattan 75-74 in the other half of the Philadelphia twinbill as Kurt Engelbert hit a field goal with 17 seconds remaining in the second overtime period.

Texas A&M, mixing speed with a zone defense, held off Texas 75-74 in a Southwest Conference game while Arkansas employed a zone to defeat Rice 84-70.

Heavily favored Colgate needed Milt Graham's one-hander from the corner at the final buzzer to beat Buffalo 66-65 after trailing by five with 60 seconds remaining.

Florida defeated Miami (Fla) 87-85 on two free throws and a field goal by Capt. Ted Copeland in the last 42 seconds. And Florida State, down 13 points, rode behind Jimmy Oler's 28 points to beat Georgia 79-76.

Utah State upset Wyoming 63-61 in a Skyline Conference game while Brigham Young rallied in the second half to whip Colorado A&M 61-49.

CLA remained unbeaten atop the Pacific Coast Conference race, defeating Washington State 86-72. Oregon nipped Oregon State 58-47.

In other games, Cornell beat Brown 74-56 in an Ivy contest; Miami (Ohio) walloped Western Michigan 80-66 in the Mid-American Conference; Arizona beat West Texas State 69-64 and New Mexico A&M defeated Hardin-Simmons 56-43 in the Border Conference; Hofstra beat Kings Point 75-70 in overtime; Wofford defeated The Citadel 81-61, and Seattle beat Portland 88-77.

Souchak Sparkles In Crosby Test

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Mike Souchak was cracking the whip in Bing Crosby's national pro-amateur golf circus today, but semi-retired Ben Hogan and Memphis dentist Dr. Cary Middlecoff were still co-favorites.

Souchak, the ex-Duke University football player, rode a string of six birdies and an eagle to an eght-under-par 64 in yesterday's opening round of the $15,000 tournament.

Sunday's finals involve the 60 low scorers.

Middlecoff carded a 66, Hogan a 67 and Dow Finsterwald of Athens, Ohio, a 69.

Few Changes Made In Football Rules

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — College football fans won't have to digest a new rule book to understand the game in 1956.

The National Collegiate Athletic Assn. Rules Committee gave some 66 suggestions a thorough study and decided there wasn't much to revise.

Chairman Fritz Crisler said that aside from a few technical matters, the 1956 rules session was the leanest for changes in the 50-year history of the organization.

Pro Football Bowl Slated For Sunday

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The sixth annual pro bowl football game comes off tomorrow in Memorial Coliseum with the finest professionals in the world colliding in the all-star studded engagement.

More than 40,000 fans are expected to see the grid finale.

It's the East against the West in the divisional battle and the West is a slight favorite to make the count 4-2 since the series was inaugurated in 1951.

Coach Sid Gillman of the Los Angeles Rams, coaching the West, and big Joe Kuharich of the Washington Redskins, tutor for the east, have plenty of material.

Kuharich will lead off on offense with Adrian Burk, Philadelphia, at the T-quarterback helm, flanked by halfbacks Frank Gifford of the New York Giants and Ray Matthews, Pittsburgh, and fullback Curly Morrison of the Cleveland Browns.

Gillman's ace, Ram quarterback Norman Van Brocklin, probably will have his teammate, rookie Ron Waller, at one half, Rick Casares of the Chicago Bears at the other half ,with rookie Alan Ameche of Baltimore at fullback.

Triple Pace Crown Is Now Assured

COLUMBUS (AP)—The U. S. Trotting Assn. says a "triple crown series" for three-year - old pacers has been established by creation of the $50,000 added Messenger Stake at Roosevelt Raceway, N.Y.

The association said the Messenger will be paced June 30, followed by the $70,000 Cane Futurity at Yonkers Raceway, Aug. 18 and the $65,000 Little Brown Jug Sept. 20 at Delaware.

Scott Frost, harness horse of the year, swept the first triple crown colt series for three-year-old trotters when offered in 1955.

The trotters' series included the $70,000 Yonkers Futurity, the $85,000 Hambletonian and the $65,000 Kentucky Futurity.

Black Friday Brings 8-6 Court Score

BURNS, Kan. (AP) — Whiteater and Burns high schools probably hope they won't have to play another basketball game on Friday the 13th.

Their game last night ended 8-6 in favor of Whitewater after two overtime periods. The halftime score was 0-0.

Tigers Outlast Wilmington 73-68 In Hectic SCOL Tilt

Wilmington's Hurricanes came roaring into Circleville's E. Mill St. gym Friday night, but when the smoke of battle cleared, Wilmington's varsity and reserve squads breezed out with shattered league records.

In a fast, wild varsity encounter, the Tigers outlasted the Hurricanes, 73-68, to hand the Wilmington cagers their first league loss in four outings.

In a hectic uphill struglge, Circleville's seconds ran their victory string to seven straight while knocking off Wilmington's reserves, 47-44 for their first loss in league competition.

Featuring flashes of good, but mostly ragged defense, and racehorse style basketball, the varsity contest left the more than 700 frenzied fans limp with excitement.

THE TIGERS took the opening quarter lead and held it until, with 3:40 to go in the second quarter, Earley knotted the count at 28-all.

Earley's foul shot gave the Hurricane squad its first lead in the game with 3:30 to go in this period. A foul shot by Kersey, a basket by Roberts and two foul shots by Fields gave Wilmington a 34-28 advantage.

Jones finally broke the ice for the Tigers with a basket but Roberts made two more points for the Hurricanes to up the count to 36-30.

With the score standing at 37-30, the Tigers came clawing back to score eight points with Callihan, who sparked for Circleville, making the basket which gave the Tigers a 38-37 lead.

The lead changed hands again when Carey meshed the nets for two points but Bobby Wellington fired a long one to regain the advantage for Circleville.

FIELDS stripped the nets with a shot from mid-floor to give Wilmington a 41-40 lead but Walt Sieverts hit for a basket with the seconds running out to give Circleville a 42-41 intermission lead.

Circleville dominated the third quarter completely by scorching the nets for 21 points while Wilmington could manage only three tallies. Sieverts played his best eight minutes in this quarter as he grabbed many rebounds to help stifle the Hurricanes' offense.

Wilmington began the fourth quarter by scoring six foul shots and then a bucket by Earley brought the score to 63-52. Circleville finally found the range when McConnell hit for a bucket.

Earley, who played a standout game for Wilmington, cashed in on another bucket which was matched by a basket by Callihan. Sieverts then tallied to make the score 69-54.

WILMINGTON hit for ten consecutive points to make it 69-64 but McConnell made two to up the count to 71-64. His bucket was matched by Callihan, and Roberts tallied in the closing seconds to end the game.

Both teams played a wide open game with Circleville sparked by Callihan and Wellington, showing the way.

Jim McConnell took scoring honors with 18 points and grabbed many rebounds while Earley led Wilmington's offense with 16 counters.

Circleville had to fight hard to take the reserve contest. Led by Hosler, who scored 18 points and Parcher who netted 16, the Tigers were able to hand Wilmington's seconds their first reserve loss in league competition.

Outstanding player on the floor was Wilmington's Bashore who tallied 21 points and who was a mountain of strength in the rebounding department.

CIRCLEVILLE was behind the entire first half and finally tied the score at 27-all in the second canto. However, Wilmington quickly whipped away and held as much as a seven point lead. With 3:30 to go in the fourth period, Circleville took the lead for the first time, 45-44, on a bucket by Hosler. Wilmington wasn't able to score again and Circleville kept its unbeaten record intact.

Dons Sparkle In Matching Win Record

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Dons did it. And they did it big.

Top-ranked San Francisco, the best college team in a long, long time, breezed past Fresno State 69-50 Friday night to match the all-time major college consecutive victory record of 39 games.

Now the Dons have a two-week vacation before making a bid against California Jan. 28 to become the winningest team ever.

Long Island University set the record 19 years ago, rolling along unbeaten from the 1935 season until knocked off by Stanford two years later. Seton Hall is the only other major club to win 39 in a row. The Pirates did it in 1939-41 with LIU finally stopping them.

All-America Bill Russell, the Dons' 6-10 ace, topped the scoring against Fresno State with 22 points, stowing little effects of a cold that put him in bed Thursday. Russell also cleared 17 rebounds although playing less than half the game as Coach Phil Woolpert substituted freely and used his entire 15-man traveling squad.

Elsewhere, it was a night of upsets, big scares and heavy use of the controversial zone defense.

North Carolina, ranked No. 9, got 30 points from Lennie Rosenbluth and needed 'em all after blowing a 16-point halftime lead to outlast South Carolina 75-73 and gain a share of the Atlantic Coast Conference lead with Duke.

Virginia Tech, a real sleeper with a 5-5 mark, upended 14th-ranked George Washington 63-61 as Bill Matthews hit 21 points and tapped in a closing-second field goal. Tech hit an amazing 60 per cent of its field shots, but trailed in field goals 24-23.

West Virginia, despite Hot Rod Hundle's 28 points, just did get past Penn State 81-79.

In the Ivy League, Harvard stunned Penn 86-78 as Ike Canty canned 26 points and Phil Haughey 25 to outweight the 31 Joe Sturgis hit for Penn.

La Salle, using a second half zone, rallied to defeat Syracuse 71-64 and little St. Joseph's, Pa. upset Manhattan 75-74 in the other half of the Philadelphia twinbill as Kurt Engelbert hit a field goal with 17 seconds remaining in the second overtime period.

Texas A&M, mixing speed with a zone defense, held off Texas 75-74 in a Southwest Conference game while Arkansas employed a zone to defeat Rice 84-70.

Heavily favored Colgate needed Milt Graham's one-hander from the corner at the final buzzer to beat Buffalo 66-65 after trailing by five with 60 seconds remaining.

Florida defeated Miami (Fla) 87-85 on two free throws and a field goal by Capt. Ted Copeland in the last 42 seconds. And Florida State, down 13 points, rode behind Jimmy Oler's 28 points to beat Georgia 79-76.

Utah State upset Wyoming 63-61 in a Skyline Conference game while Brigham Young rallied in the second half to whip Colorado A&M 61-49.

CLA remained unbeaten atop the Pacific Coast Conference race, defeating Washington State 86-72. Oregon nipped Oregon State 58-47.

In other games, Cornell beat Brown 74-56 in an Ivy contest; Miami (Ohio) walloped Western Michigan 80-66 in the Mid-American Conference; Arizona beat West Texas State 69-64 and New Mexico A&M defeated Hardin-Simmons 56-43 in the Border Conference; Hofstra beat Kings Point 75-70 in overtime; Wofford defeated The Citadel 81-61, and Seattle beat Portland 88-77.

Souchak Sparkles In Crosby Test

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Mike Souchak was cracking the whip in Bing Crosby's national pro-amateur golf circus today, but semi-retired Ben Hogan and Memphis dentist Dr. Cary Middlecoff were still co-favorites.

Souchak, the ex-Duke University football player, rode a string of six birdies and an eagle to an eght-under-par 64 in yesterday's opening round of the $15,000 tournament.

Sunday's finals involve the 60 low scorers.

Middlecoff carded a 66, Hogan a 67 and Dow Finsterwald of Athens, Ohio, a 69.

Few Changes Made In Football Rules

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — College football fans won't have to digest a new rule book to understand the game in 1956.

The National Collegiate Athletic Assn. Rules Committee gave some 66 suggestions a thorough study and decided there wasn't much to revise.

Chairman Fritz Crisler said that aside from a few technical matters, the 1956 rules session was the leanest for changes in the 50-year history of the organization.

Pro Football Bowl Slated For Sunday

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The sixth annual pro bowl football game comes off tomorrow in Memorial Coliseum with the finest professionals in the world colliding in the all-star studded engagement.

More than 40,000 fans are expected to see the grid finale.

It's the East against the West in the divisional battle and the West is a slight favorite to make the count 4-2 since the series was inaugurated in 1951.

Coach Sid Gillman of the Los Angeles Rams, coaching the West, and big Joe Kuharich of the Washington Redskins, tutor for the east, have plenty of material.

Kuharich will lead off on offense with Adrian Burk, Philadelphia, at the T-quarterback helm, flanked by halfbacks Frank Gifford of the New York Giants and Ray Matthews, Pittsburgh, and fullback Curly Morrison of the Cleveland Browns.

Gillman's ace, Ram quarterback Norman Van Brocklin, probably will have his teammate, rookie Ron Waller, at one half, Rick Casares of the Chicago Bears at the other half ,with rookie Alan Ameche of Baltimore at fullback.

Triple Pace Crown Is Now Assured

COLUMBUS (AP)—The U. S. Trotting Assn. says a "triple crown series" for three-year - old pacers has been established by creation of the $50,000 added Messenger Stake at Roosevelt Raceway, N.Y.

The association said the Messenger will be paced June 30, followed by the $70,000 Cane Futurity at Yonkers Raceway, Aug. 18 and the $65,000 Little Brown Jug Sept. 20 at Delaware.

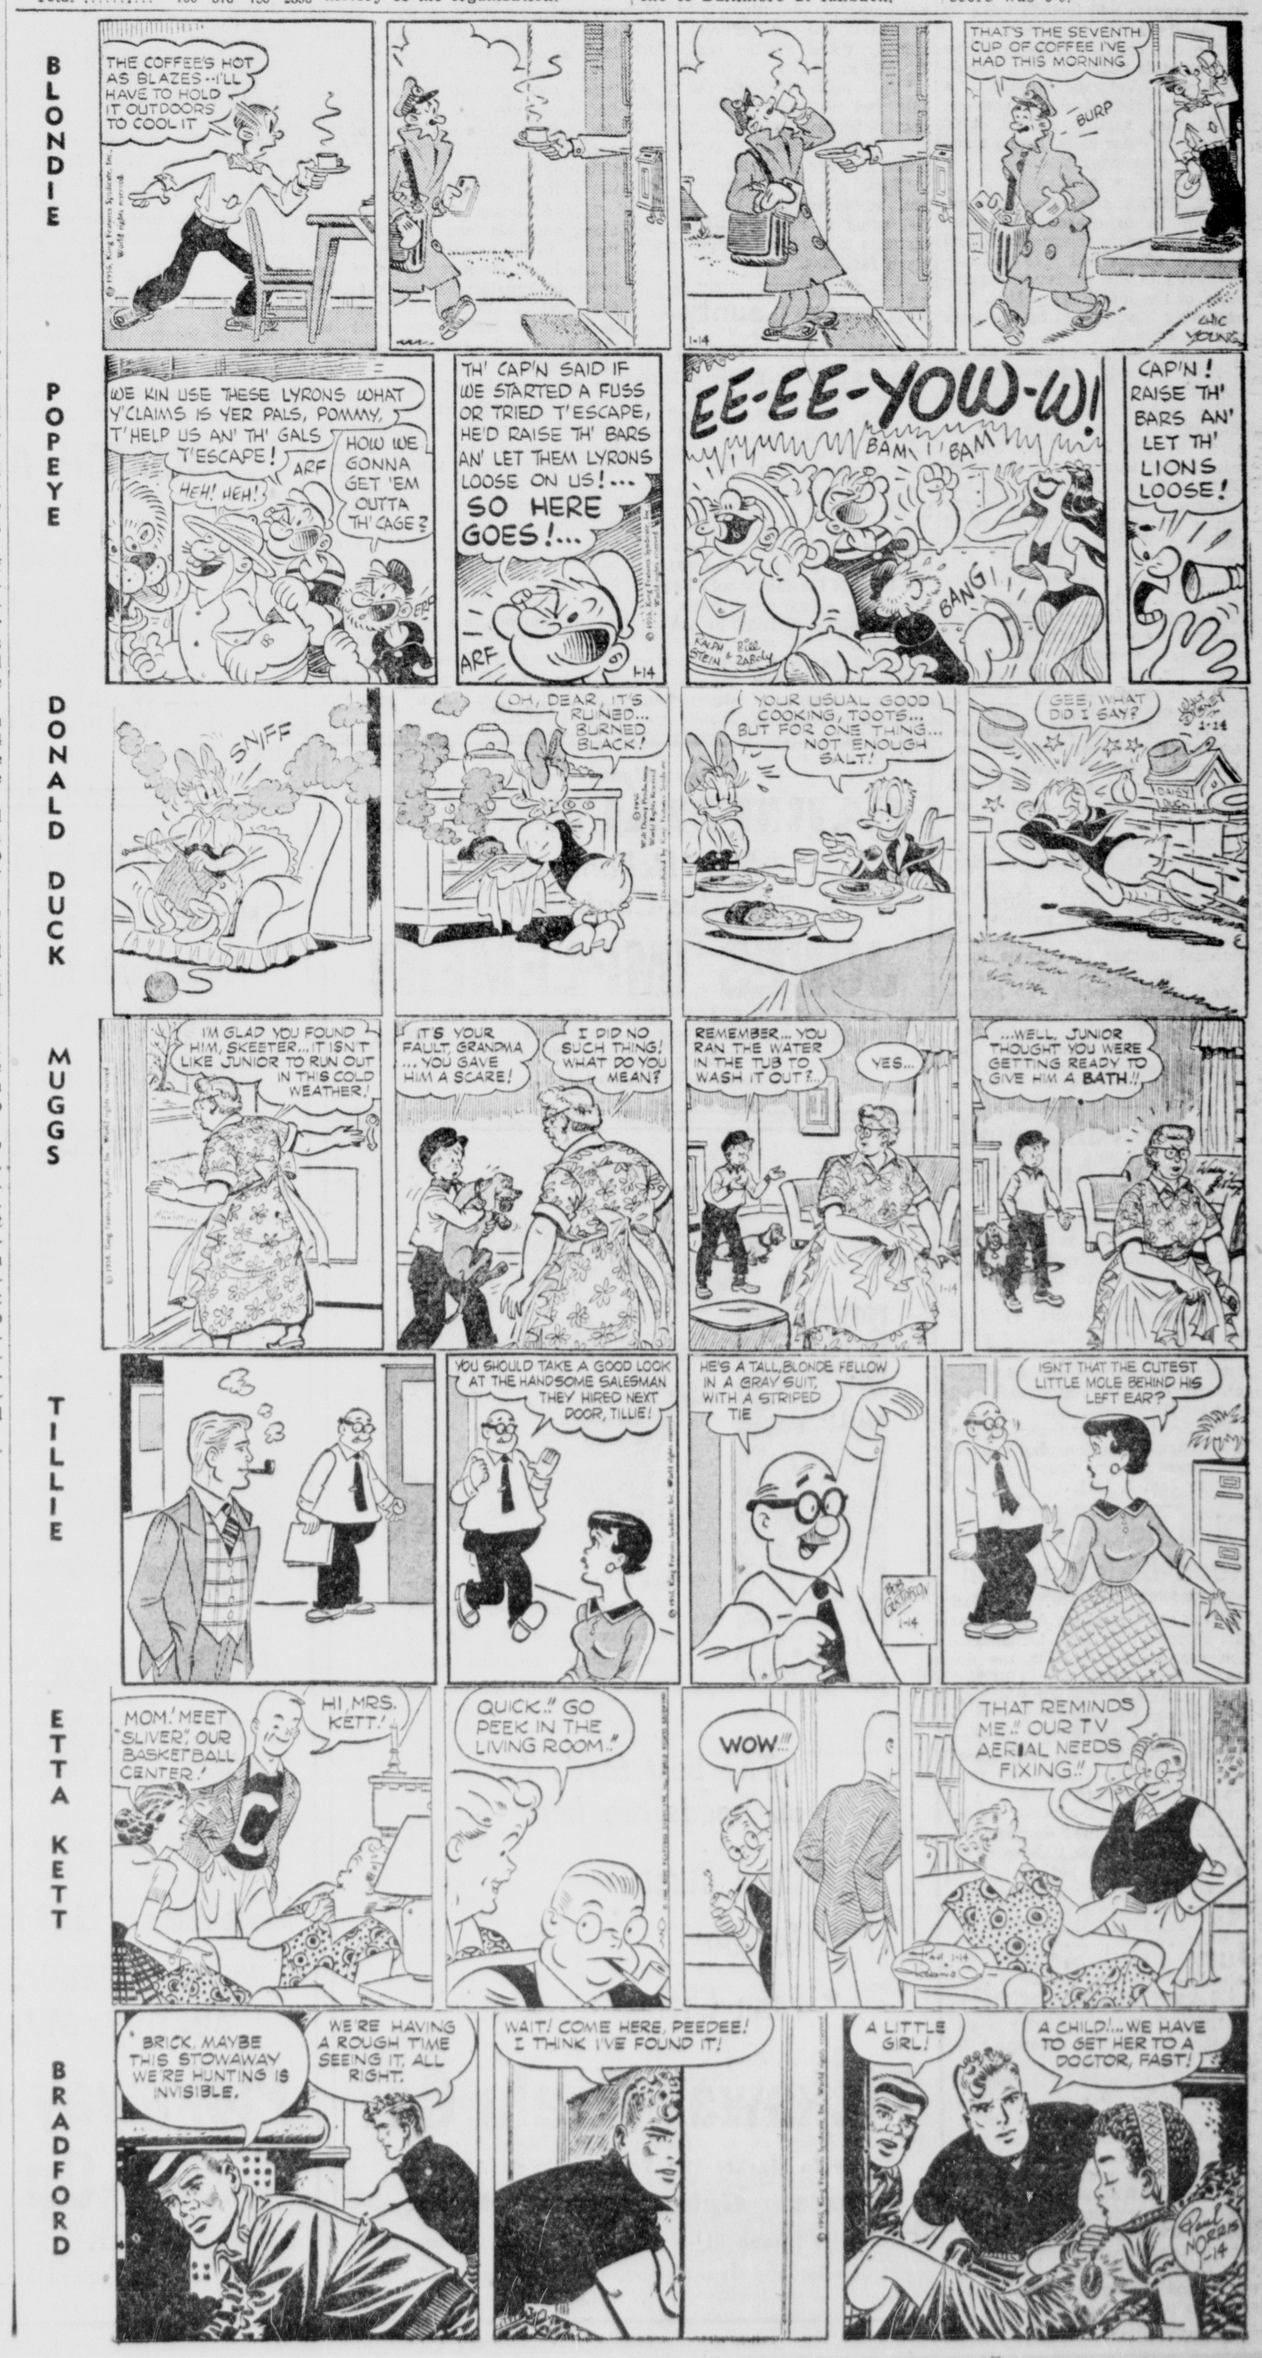

Scott Frost, harness horse of the year, swept the first triple crown colt series for three-year-old trotters when offered in 1955.

The trotters' series included the $70,000 Yonkers Futurity, the $85,000 Hambletonian and the $65,000 Kentucky Futurity.

Black Friday Brings 8-6 Court Score

BURNS, Kan. (AP — Whiteater and Burns high schools probably hope they won't have to play another basketball game on Friday the 13th.

Their game last night ended 8-6 in favor of Whitewater after two overtime periods. The halftime score was 0-0.

Thousands Expected To Attend Convention Of Ohio Pastors

Local Ministers Group Will Be Represented

Big Gathering Set To Open Jan. 23 In New Memorial

Most of the clergy in Circleville and the surrounding county plan to attend the 37th annual Ohio Pastors' Convention, described by the Ohio Council of Churches as the largest annual gathering of its kind in the world.

The four-day convention will open January 23 in Columbus. The Rev. James B. Recob, Pastor of Calvary EUB Church and The Ministerial Association here, said he planned to represent that group at the meeting. Likewise, he added, the great majority of other ministers in Pickaway County will probably attend at least part of the program.

Thousands of ministers are expected to come from all over Ohio. The program will include talks by nationally known speakers.

The convention will be in a new location this year—the new Franklin County Veterans Memorial, a spacious, bright building with an auditorium seating almost 4,000 and many other halls, lounges and smaller meeting rooms.

SPEAKERS noted for their achievements in church and academic life and in international and national affairs will give addresses keyed to the needs and problems of the individual pastor. The assembly is sponsored by the state church council.

Theme speaker will be Bishop Gerald Kennedy, Methodist bishop of the Los Angeles area, who will give four addresses, one each morning. Two addresses will be given by Dr. James D. Smart, minister of Rosedale Presbyterian Church, Toronto, Canada, former editor-in-chief in charge of curriculum materials for the Board of Christian Education of the Presbyterian Church in the USA.

Chairman of this year's convention is Dr. Robert W. Fay, rector of Trinity Episcopal Church, Columbus, who will preside at all sessions. Convention director is again Dr. W. Henry Shillington, executive secretary of the Ohio Council of Churches.

Dr. W. Frederic Miller, minister of the First Presbyterian Church, Youngstown, will again be director of music and will lead congregational singing at all sessions.

Open session of the convention will begin at 10 a. m. Monday, January 23.

Denominations which have scheduled lunches are the Methodists, Presbyterians, Evangelical United Brethren Congregationalists, Evangelical and Reformed, Baptists, Brethren, Disciples and Episcopalians.

Fayette Fairground Squabble Appealed

COLUMBUS (AP) — Owners of a 47-acre site containing the Fayette County fairgrounds yesterday carried their fight against appropriation of the land to the Ohio Supreme Court.

Common pleas court enjoined the county agricultural society from taking the land of Earl and Esther Scott. But an appellate court threw out the injunction and held for the society.

The Scotts then appealed to the high court. The society holds a 20-year lease on the property, running to Jan. 1, 1971.

Ohio Solon Booms Road-Building Plan

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Road building must go ahead fast so that this form of highway transportation can keep pace with the demand, Rep. McGregor (R-Ohio) told the American Road Builders' Assn. yesterday.

McGregor said in a prepared speech that President Eisenhower's multi-billion dollar road program is "not unreasonable."

Pointing to the mounting traffic accidents and highway deaths each year, McGregor said "There is no valid excuse in a nation as advanced as ours for such preventable loss in human life."

Jury Trial Slated On Graham's Sanity

DENVER (AP)—A jury trial is set to start March 5 to determine if John Gilbert Graham was sane last Nov. 1 when he is accused of dynamiting an airliner that hurled his mother and 43 others to death.

Trial on the sanity issue was requested by court-appointed defense attorney who rejected the 23-year-old defendant was sane.

If Graham is found sane he will then be tried on his plea of innocent to the murder charge. If the jury finds him insane he would be committed to a state hospital, never to be tried for murder.

218 School Districts Said In Bad Shape

YOUNGSTOWN (AP)—State board of education President Robert A. Manchester says at least 218 Ohio school districts are "in bad shape financially."

Manchester said 42 of the districts "are in a position to make good use of funds for building in this fiscal year."

He said he did not know of what extent Ohio would participate in any program of federal aid to education Congress might approve in response to President Eisenhower's recent request.

Manchester, whose newly created education board took office Jan. 4, said 369 districts have taken out forms with which to apply for financial help, and 151 of them have not yet completed the applications.

The 218 districts that applied would lack more than $11 million of building funds even if they taxed themselves at the highest legal rate.

Manchester said the state department of education used $1.8 million of the $2 million school subsidy voted by the Legislature for 1955 and 1956. He continued:

"That leaves $200,000 for all of 1956 and we have requests under that program for $2,758,000 for 1956. So the need for projects for only this year is $13,809,000.

"I can say that the state of Ohio can advantageously use substantial sums in rehabilitating school districts to provide adequate classroom facilities."

Harrison County Heads Ag Board

COLUMBUS (AP)—Emerson Mizer of Harrison County is the new president of the Ohio Board of Agriculture. He was elected recently, succeding Willard Bitzer of Washington C. H.

The board serves as an adviser to the director of agriculture.

State Fair manager Sam Cashman told the board the 1955 fair operated at a net loss of $24,000. But he said the fair should be considered on a year-round basis, just as any other division in the department.

He told the group the net loss on fair operation does not include off-season income of almost $81,000 from building rentals.

Lausche Schedules Assembly Speech

COLUMBUS (AP)—Gov. Frank J. Lausche will address the special session of the Ohio Legislature convening Monday to act on financing for a public building program.

The governor expects to deliver his address soon after the House and Senate convene at 1:30 p. m.

Lausche has expressed favor for a $30 million bond issue, the maximum amount allowed in any one year from a $150 million issue approved by voters last November.

Money from the sale of bonds will go for urgently needed construction at state hospitals, prisons, universities, public schools and possibly office planning.

Utah Chief Refuses Pay Part Of Tax

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Gov. J. Bracken Lee told the Internal Revenue Service that he is refusing to pay a portion of the federal tax due on his 1955 income and invited court action against him.

"I am refusing," Lee said in a letter, "to pay that portion of my tax which was not withheld in order to instigate a court test of the constitutional right of the U.S. government to appropriate taxpayers' funds for foreign aid."

The governor sent his letter, along with his formal income tax return, to the Internal Revenue collector here. He sent copies of the letter to President Eisenhower, to the head of the Internal Revenue Service in Washington and to members of the Utah congressional delegation. Lee made the letter public at his office.

Lee said he calculated the amount of tax due, in addition to the amount that was withheld from his income during 1955, and was depositing in a Salt Lake City bank funds to cover it, should he later be compelled to pay.

"I am not attempting to avoid payment of taxes," Lee said in his letter, "but am simply using this means to bring a constitutional question before a federal court. I trust you will proceed with the necessary legal action against me to collect my unremitted tax and thus bring this matter before a federal court."

Legion Asking U. S. Congress For Hike In Vets' Pensions

WASHINGTON (AP)—The American Legion has told Congress its No. 1 legislative goal this year is a half billion dollar boost in veterans' pensions.

The plan would increase individual pension payments and make more veterans eligible for them.

National Commander J. Addington Wagner said passage of the legion's pension bill would "spell the difference between existing and living — between despair and hope" for thousan ds foevterans.

But Chairman Olin E. Teague (D-Tex) of the House Veterans Affairs Committee indicated the legion plan will face cool treatment in Congress.

Teague disclosed he had turned down a legion request that he introduce its bill. And he said the committee would not take up the legion plan before it has disposed of such other items as hospital rehope" for thousands for veterans. orphans and "equalization" of various veterans' benefits.

The Veterans Administration figures the legion bill would cost 528 mllion dollars its first year, with the amount to increase 18 per cent a year for some years thereafter. The Veterans of Foreign Wars is understood to be giving top priority to a similar measure this year.

Pensions are provided largely on the basis of need. They thus differ from compensation payments, made for service-connected causes.

Wagner asked that Congress:

Raise the present monthly pension rates of $66.15, $78.75 and the maximum of $135.45 for helpless veterans to $85, $105 and $150 respectively.

Increase income limitatins on veterans eligible for pensions from the present $1,400 a year for a veteran with no dependents and $2,700 for those with dependents to $1,800 and $3,000.

Presume for pension purposes that any veteran age 65 or over is totally disabled and unemployable, and thus automatically eligible for a pension provided he meets the income and military service requirements.

About a half mllion veterans are now getting pensions under existing disability, unemployability and income limitation standards.

"We do not ask pensions for veterans regardless of income," Wagner said. "We do ask, urgently and as a matter of simple justice, modest support for every veteran who, by reason of age or physical disability, cannot support himself."

On other legislative matters Wagner told the House group the legion:

Favors 31 of the Hoover government reorganization commission's recommendations affecting veterans' services and oposes 46, especially those possibly involving cutbacks of federal medical services, compensation and pensions, veterans' job preference and civil service.

Wants the termination date of the World War II GI home loan guaranty program extended three more years, from July 25, 1957, to July 25, 1960.

Rarden Marshal Freed By Jury

PORTSMOUTH (AP)—The grand jury yesterday ignored a second-degree murder charge against Sylvanous E. Daulton, 51, marshal in the village of Rarden.

The charge had been filed by Alton Newman who claimed Daulton killed his son, John R. Newman, 24, Oct. 22.

Newman was killed as Daulton was taking the young man and several companions to the county jail on disorderly conduct charges. Daulton claimed he shot Newman after he had been attacked.

Cop Understands Motorist's Haste

CLEVELAND (AP)—After an 80-mile-an-hour chase over snowy city streets, police finally stopped the motorist and approached his car with drawn guns yesterday.

"But my wife's going to have a baby!" said Arthur Wills.

Patrolman Vincent Gallagher then saw Mrs. Wills huddled in the front seat of the car.

"Follow me," said the officer, and the police escorted the car to a hospital, where Mrs. Wills gave birth to a baby girl. Said Police Capt. Arthur Morgan:

"You can't give a ticket to a father in that condition. I've got five children of my own."

The national human relations award of the conference will be presented to John A. Greene, president of Ohio Bell.

Regardless of what we may say — here is the opinion of the auto buying public. Nearly one out of every ten cars sold is a BUICK and outside the low priced three, nearly one out of every five of the other 13 cars sold is a BUICK.

What do these figures mean to you? Just this. BUICK had to have more quality at the price or some other car would be third place in sales. Altho we have 267 owners who have purchased from two to ten BUICKS from us; 41.3% of our sales have come from other makes of cars in the last two years. This is a very high percentage of other make trade-ins on any car. Be fair to yourself. Drive Test a New Buick, Switch the Pitch on this great new Buick Dynaflow transmission and you will see why BUICK is third place in sales.

Big Gathering Set To Open Jan. 23 In New Memorial

Most of the clergy in Circleville and the surrounding county plan to attend the 37th annual Ohio Pastors' Convention, described by the Ohio Council of Churches as the largest annual gathering of its kind in the world.

Thousands of ministers are expected to come from all over Ohio. The program will include talks by nationally known speakers.

The convention will be in a new location this year—the new Franklin County Veterans Memorial, a spacious, bright building with an auditorium seating almost 4,000 and many other halls, lounges and smaller meeting rooms.

Regardless of what we may say — here is the opinion of the auto buying public. Nearly one out of every ten cars sold is a BUICK and outside the low priced three, nearly one out of every five of the other 13 cars sold is a BUICK.

What do these figures mean to you? Just this. BUICK had to have more quality at the price or some other car would be third place in sales. Altho we have 267 owners who have purchased from two to ten BUICKS from us; 41.3% of our sales have come from other makes of cars in the last two years. This is a very high percentage of other make trade-ins on any car. Be fair to yourself. Drive Test a New Buick, Switch the Pitch on this great new Buick Dynaflow transmission and you will see why BUICK is third place in sales.
